'It's kind of like Cheers around here'

Steitz's turns 60

Antioch family supper club plans ski show, fest to celebrate

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

On a clear day, a person can see back 60 years.

People who climb the dirt road up the hill to the restaurant and bar can drink in the view of Bluff Lake, or they can go inside and slip into the luxury of a very comfortable place to be.

Steitz's Resort on Grass Lake Road has taken one family 60 years to build, but it only takes a few minutes to sense the warmth and the history of the place. Even the owners can enjoy it.

"Everyone meets at the bar. It's kind of like Cheers around here," said John Steitz III.

He also likes the people he welcomes to the resort just as his father and grandfather once did.

"I like the heritage aspects of it," said Steitz.

"I think the best thing is the sheer fact that you get to meet some of the nicest people," he said. That makes his work as a host enjoyable.

To acknowledge some of this emotional satisfaction he has found operating the resort, Steitz has planned a celebration of his family's 60 years in business on Bluff Lake.

The festivities will take place Friday, Sept. 4 and Saturday, Sept. 5. It is a two-day celebration with music, a water show, daytime entertainment events, almost free food, and fireworks at dusk.

"In 1938, my grandfather made a small tavern and boat shop for rental for fishermen and hunters," he said. That progressed into a boat storage business. In 1968, his father took over the operation of the resort. He was a boat mechanic, and the business prospered.

"I took over in 1988," John Steitz said. "I was more into the restaurant and the RV park."

Under his guidance, the resort expanded to include spaces for recreational vehicles as well as a restaurant. The main building overlooks the bluff out to the lake. It is a friendly building of two rooms which have the restaurant area and another room with a large, wood bar that bends around the corner past the large windows.

Above, Steitz resort from a early postcard. Right, John Steitz III enjoys welcoming patrons to the resort his grandfather founded in 1938 on Bluff Lake. The resort features a variety of Chain O'Lakes memorabilia and will celebrate its 60th anniversary with a water ski show, Sept. 4.— Photo courtesy of "Antioch: A pictorial history" and Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom

Postcards, photographs, and paper scraps are carefully framed and cover all wall space. This even includes a bill from the Antioch News that was sent Oct. 14, 1940 requesting payment for a Steitz's Resort advertisement. The bill was paid.

All of this history will be on view Friday, Sept. 4 near 7 p.m. when the Twin Lakes Aquanauts present their water ski-show. "They're putting on a show for us," he said. "The show is top-notch. No pauses."

Later there will be a reggae band

Antioch sold in 82 minutes

More opportunities exist to participate in Lion's game

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

"Unbelievable!"

That pretty much summarizes Adam Zakroczymski's reaction. He was receiving telephone calls Thursday, Aug. 20 from the business and manufacturing community of Antioch.

Village merchants and business leaders were calling him by telephone to be on the Lions Club's board game called The Game of Antioch.

At noon, Zakroczymski began to take telephone orders for positions on the playing surface of The Game of Antioch. It took 82 minutes to completely sell approximately 3 dozen commercial spaces on the board.

"I thought it would take a couple of days," Zakroczymski said. "I had no idea it would sell this quickly.

"I think that this just reinforces what a responsive community Antioch is."

"Now we have VIP names (that we can sell). We can accept up to 200 more names," he said.

People who wish to support the project may contribute $25 to have their name added to the center of the game's playing surface. The name can be up to 19 characters. The deadline for this is Tuesday, Sept. 15.

"I've got 30 of those sold already," Zakroczymski said Aug. 20. "One person is ordering five games each with the names of his grandchildren on the board. He's going to give the game to them for Christmas."

People have already begun to order the game itself since there is a discount for early purchase. "We've got orders for at least 50 games, possibly 150 games," he said.

People who wish to donate $25 to have their name added to the board may call Zakroczymski (847-838-1790) or mail it to him at Titan Marketing International, 362 Lake Street, Suite 2, Antioch, 60002-1404. "Everyone who calls will be contacted."

Jim Koutsoures is a game collector who ordered two copies of The Game of Antioch. He ordered one for his collection and one he can play with his children.

"I've been seriously chasing games since 1973," he said. "I truly enjoy the games of the sixties."

He likes to collect games for their historical value, but he also plays them. He thinks that on rainy, cold, nights there is nothing better than playing a game.

"I have three town games," he said. For him, the games tell a story about the history of a community as they become older.

Koutsoures said that the Lakes Regional Historical Society has another game about Antioch on display this month at the museum at 812 Main Street. It was put together in the 1970s.

A game about Lake County was created in 1980. That game also included some Antioch businesses on the playing board.

Koutsoures said that these games have appeal for children 9 years and older. "They'll understand strategy," he said. "It makes the game more interesting because they can relate to the businesses on the board."

Teen drowns in Cedar Lake; managers refuse to cooperate

By KEN PATCHEN & LIZ THOMSEN

Oscar Rameriz, 17, of Chicago, drowned late Saturday afternoon, Aug. 22 at Cedar Lake Park on Grand Avenue.

Two staff managers at Cedar Lake Park were arrested late Sunday afternoon after they allegedly refused to release witness information to investigating officers.

Robert W Johnston, 52 and Susan Johnston, 49, of 340 W. Grand Ave, Lake Villa, were arrested and charged on one count each of interfering with a public officer and interfering with a death investigation.

Ramirez was at the park on Cedar Lake for the day with his family. The family of Ezequiel Ramirez, the father, included the mother, a sister, a niece, and a nephew. They were frequent visitors to the beach and picnic area.

His family became worried at 3 p.m., when they could not locate Oscar any where in the park. He was reported missing to Lake Villa Police at 5:09 p.m.

The body of the victim was found in the water by a Cedar Lake Park lifeguard at approximately 5:43 p.m.. His body was discovered in about 20 feet of water underneath a floating raft. It appeared he had been in the water for several hours, and he was declared dead at the scene.

Oscar Rameriz was described by family members as a good swimmer.

STEITZ'S: Third generation family business turns 60

that plays until 10 p.m.

Saturday is the real party, according to Steitz. Starting at 2 p.m., he will be serving 75 cent beers until he runs out. The buffet will be $5.

There will be music on the deck, dipping for apples, and a tug-of-war. "We're going to do some rowboat races."

"I've been trying to get as many old wood boats, as possible, here that day," he said. "Anyone who brings one in has dinner on us that day."

Steitz operates one of the last three businesses on the lakes that still is operated by the original family. He has retained many of the features that have built the business, but he also has added new ones.

"We're the oldest place in Illinois that has an operating toboggan slide," he said. "It's a chute that goes down the hill and out onto the lake." A $7 ticket provides a person with toboggan rides down the chute and onto the lake all day long.

"We have ice-fishing out front," he said. "We're a good stop for all the snowmobilers to stop and have lunch and dinner."

"We're running walleye tournaments out of here," Steitz said. It is called the Chain Walleye Series—CWS. Tammy and Scott Duncan manage the details of the tournament and it has met with considerable success.

"It's something that is going to stick around."

Weekly walleye weigh-ins and prizes are supplemented by the October Championship with its own prizes.

John Steitz created the Steitz's Fireworks Club. "I asked customers if they'd be interested to donate for an annual fireworks show," he said. As a result, contributions are collected and plans are to have 2 or 3 shows a year.

"I would like to say 'thanks' to the Steitz's Fireworks Club for paying for the Sept. 5 show because they made it possible," he said.

The show is done by a licensed pyrotechnician. "He does it right."

The restaurant is something that John Steitz III added to the mix of resort features during the ten years he has operated the business. It is open Thursday through Sunday.

It is a resort with historic ties to the regional economy.

In early September, 1890, the Lake County Patriot reported that the Antioch area was growing well. The paper's representative is reported to have noted that "Its lake resorts have also grown fast and have enjoyed a prosperous season."

That was 48 years before the Steitz family established their Bluff Lake resort. Today, area lake resorts continue to attract people to the region and to the Chain of Lakes.

Steitz is the most recent person to operate the family's resort. "It's my tenth year," he said of his tenure. "My Dad has allowed me to run it. It's been nice."

"I intend to work here the rest of my life."

LIONS: Sell out Antioch

Antioch Lions Club effort to raise money by sales of The Game of Antioch. Money raised by the sale of the board game will be donated to the William E. Brook Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center project. Lions have pledged to raise $10,000 in 1998 and 1999 to help support the downtown wetland restoration project.

Pre-sold copies of the board game can be purchased, at a 20 percent discount, for $13.50 until Sunday, Nov. 1 by people who order and pay in advance.

After Nov. 1, the game will be sold for $16.85. Stores in Antioch are expected to have the game available for sale during the holiday season.

Koutsoures is pleased to be able to support the fund raising effort of the Lions Club. He thinks it is a strong and positive reflection on the community.

Grass Lake receives state ed grant

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Grass Lake School has received a $75,000 grant from the Illinois Board of Education to help eligible young children improve their chances to perform well in school.

The grant will build upon an existing program started two years ago by the school to improve learning ability.

"It's a good start for our school," said Superintendent James Beveridge. "We're really proud of it."

"We started this a couple of years ago with a summer school," he said. Pre-school children who were not fully prepared for the kindergarten education experience were given targeted assistance.

The class provides an opportunity for specialized education personnel and a teacher to work with approximately 15 children this first year. The grant will provide a teacher as well as additional assistance from aides, speech pathologists, social workers, and others as necessary.

Children do not all learn at the same rate, according to Beveridge. Therefore, the program is intended to keep students from falling behind from the very first entry to school.

"It is a self-contained, focused class," he said. "They're all in one class in the afternoon," he said.

Beveridge said that the school is in the process of identifying students who will benefit by participation in the program. "There has been some initial screening done through our regular school program," he said.

The student selection process involves nine criteria which help determine program and child suitability.

Five teachers have been involved. "They put together the grant," said Beveridge.

The teachers were Marilyn Bowen, Ivy Sitkowski, Patricia Riordan, Julie Gayer, and Sharon Jones.

"It's a one year grant," Beveridge said. "Our chances of extending it are pretty good."

Hospice seeks Antioch area volunteers

Rush Hospice Partners are looking for three types of volunteers from the Antioch, Lake Villa, and Lindenhurst area to help with a local hospice care program.

Lisa Anderson said that individuals accepted into the program would receive structured training to work with terminally-ill patients and their families. Those are known as direct-patient volunteers. She said that they also need community activity team volunteers.

Anderson also seeks volunteers who work in bereavement support. "I can't function without them," she said.

Despite the name, bereavement support volunteers help with data entry, thank you notes, follow-up notes to families, newsletters, and mailing tasks.

This is a very specialized volunteer role in community service which allows patients to have a better life at home during the final days of life.

People who would like to know more can call Lisa Anderson at 1-800-994-9400 or Eleanor DeVries, R.N., at 847-295-3619, extension 6402.

Ghosts are drifting into the public consciousness, and the public library is here to help.

"Ursula Bielski will be giving a talk on the ghosts of Chicagoland at the Antioch Public Library on Saturday, Sept. 19 at 2 p.m.," said Adult Services Librarian Amy Blue. Bielski wrote Chicago Haunts: Ghostly Lore of the Windy City.

"The September 2 meeting of the Little Fort Civil War Round Table will feature Phillip Angelo, of the Kankakee Round Table, discussing Major Washington Roebling," said Bill Lordan, treasurer of the Little Fort Civil War Round Table. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. and is for people who are interested in the Civil War. More information is available from Lordan at 847-740-7804.

Are the school systems growing in Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Antioch?

The Antioch Rotary Club sponsored their annual new teachers luncheon Thursday, Aug. 20 at the Antioch Gold Club.

"There were 95 teachers and educators here today," said President Kevin Lyons, of Lyons-Ryan Ford-Lincoln-Mercury, Inc. "This is the largest group." (See photos page A8-more to follow next week).

Rotarians have been providing the welcome luncheon for over two decades. The purpose is to welcome teachers to the community, to let them learn about the organization, and to let them know about Rotarian scholarship programs. According to Lyons, this is one way the organization maintains its network with students who may need help.

Matt Tabar, Emmons School Superintendent and a Rotarian, introduced the groups of new educators.

Several downtown stores have four-color Antioch T-shirts for sale. The two I have bought, so far, are high quality shirts. There are stores on Main Street and Lake Street with shirts of various sizes, but they are in short supply at some stores. Don't give up if the store has sold out its supply. Try another merchant.

Central Baptist Children's Home celebrates 50 years in Lake Villa with weekend festival

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The 4th annual Blast from the Past is a multi-activity event for the entire family on Saturday, Aug. 29. Adults and children have many opportunities to taste, hear, and see that makes the day a special event. Participation helps support child abuse prevention programs.

This year's lawn party also celebrates the 50th anniversary of Central Baptist Children's Home and Family Services in Lake Villa. It is an organization, however, that has been around for over 100 years.

Blast from the Past starts at 9 a.m. at the Central Baptist Children's Home at 215 North Milwaukee, known by some as Route 83, in Lake Villa. It is a mixture of free and paid attractions.

One of the strongest visual entertainments is the Classic Car Show, free for the public. Krooozers of Northern Illinoiz will host the vehicle display by members from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A special attraction this year will be the presence of Chrysler's Prowler automobile. The display is sponsored by Lake Villa Chrysler Plymouth.

Admission is charged for adults and children to attend the ice-cream social, the concert by the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra, and children's village. Adults are $8 and children under 6 are $3.

The Children's Village offers pony rides, a petting zoo, a train ride, and a moon walk. These fun activities are available from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Bright Beginnings Child Care Center.

There is a Quilt Expo hosted by the Northern Illinois Quilters Guild from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is a $2 admission charge.

The Ice-cream Social is sponsored by local community groups. It will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. One group to sponsor the ice cream social is the Antioch Woman's Club.

"We're going to have different kinds of ice-creams," said woman's club Past-president Mabel Lou Weber. "It should be a nice day."

Weber encourages people to turn out and have some ice-cream before the symphony concert.

"This is a wonderful way to raise money and keep communities working together," Weber said.

Between the ice cream and the concert is a Beanie Baby raffle drawing at 5 p.m. Diana, Erin, and Peace Beanie Babies will be offered for raffle.

The concert by the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra is at 5:30 p.m. by Deep Lake. Red Rose Children's Choir of Lake County will also perform. The concert is lawn seating. Blankets and lawn chairs are recommended for comfort.

There are four major sponsors for the children's home Blast from the Past. In addition to State Bank of The Lakes, the sponsors are Holiday Shoppe in Libertyville, Dietzgen, and Paul Bach's Lake Villa Chrysler Plymouth automobile dealership in downtown Lake Villa.

Charged with DUI

Lindenhurst Police Officers stopped Timothy S. Sass, 40, of Antioch, on Saturday, Aug. 22 at 10:17 p.m. He was charged with speeding, improper lane use, and DUI. He refused the opportunity to take a breathalyzer test. Sass was released on bond pending a court date on Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 9 a.m. in Waukegan.

Use of live bait

Lindenhurst Police Officers found Grzegorz Borawski 29, of Waukegan, and Marcin D. Chmiel, 27, of Chicago, on Sunday, Aug. 23 at 8:03 a.m. at the Teal Access of Lake Waterford. They were charged with using live bait (minnows) while fishing on Lake Waterford. They were released on bond pending a court date on Wednesday, Oct. 7 10:30 a.m. in Grayslake.

LAKE VILLA

Multiple offenses

On Aug. 14, at 6:14 p.m., a Lake Villa officer on routine patrol saw a white Ford Taurus squealing its tires in the 500 block of Shoshoni Trail.

Police charged Lora K. Morgan, 18, of Lake Villa for improper start and squealing of tires.

Police also charged Jason Scott Swanson, 19 of Lake Villa, for attempted obstruction of justice, for insisting that he was driving the car.

Both were released on I-Bond and given a court date of Sept. 9 in Grayslake.

License suspended

James B. Roberts, 40, of Lake Villa was stopped by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 15 at 2:13 p.m. after a routine check of his license showed that it was suspended.

He was charged with driving with a suspended license.

Roberts was released on I-bond pending a court date of Sept. 9 in Grayslake.

Warrant arrest

Terry Dwayn Lewellen, 36, address unknown, was stopped by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 23 at 2:13 p.m., after police noticed his van parked on the Pump House Road just off of Painted Lake Drive.

It appeared to the officer that the two occupants of the vehicle were dumping trash.

Police arrested Lewellen after discovering he was wanted on a warrant out of West Chicago for failure to appear.

Lewellen was released on a $200 bond.

Marching Sequoits start season with Lindenfest

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School Marching Sequoits have spent their summer keeping in shape with parade appearances and band camp sessions.

Band members have been practicing new music and march drills.

"They started to get serious at band camp held on August 3rd through 6th at Northern Illinois University," said Sheri Fries, a member of the A.M.P.S. band support group. "They also practice every Tuesday night for two hours."

Marching Sequoits will perform at all home football games and at five band competitions this year.

"The first one will be at Wheeling on Saturday, September 26," said Fries.

On Sunday, Oct. 11, the Marching Sequoits will compete in Fort Atkinson and Marengo.

The band will compete at the Franklin Park Parade and Competition on Sunday, Oct. 18.

The fifth, and final band competition will be at Illinois State University on Sunday, Oct. 24.

State Bank of The Lakes

What an opportunity presented to all of us at State Bank of The Lakes! The chance to support Central Baptist Children's Home and the "Blast from the Past", while at the same time playing a role in bringing the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra and their wonderful music to you, the residents of our surrounding communities. Needless to say, we are thrilled to be involved.

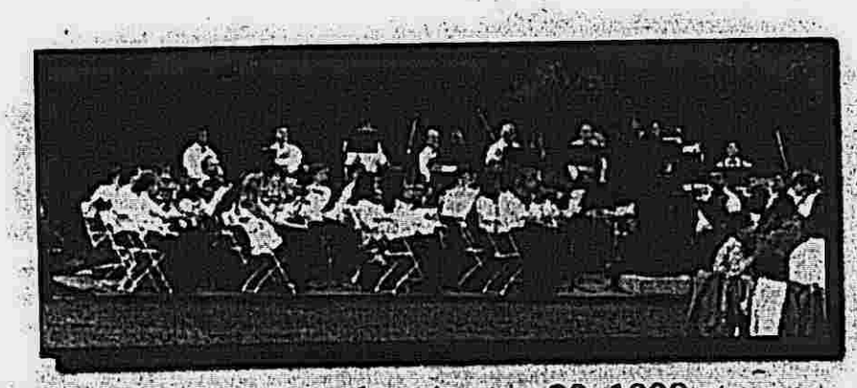

At State Bank of The Lakes, it has always been our goal to give something back to the communities we serve. After all, this is where we live and work.

I personally would like to take a moment to applaud Jan Wilke and her team of State Bank employees who donated their time and effort to create the beautiful hand-made quilt to be raffled at the "Blast". Their time and effort is greatly appreciated by all.

Lastly, State Bank of The Lakes is proud to be associated with Central Baptist Children's Home and everything they represent. It is our hope that you enjoy this upcoming cultural music performance and we look forward to many more in the future.

WALLEYE TOURNAMENTS ON THE CHAIN O'LAKES

Chain Walleye Series Team Tournaments 1998

A Second Team Repeats in CWS Fishing Tournament

John Lass, from Antioch and Gary Steinhofer, from Carol Stream, repeat as top finishers in the 5th tournament of the Chain Walleye Series, which was held on July 26, 1998. John and Gary brought four walleyes to the scale, weighing a total of 6.33 pounds, and won $1000 for their first place finish. They are the second team this season to win back-to-back tournaments.

Other top finishers of this tournament included: 2nd: John Roscop and Dan Machnik - $500, 3rd: Bruce Sesko and Bill Craig - $340, 4th: Bob Domek and Rich Suda - $240, 5th: Jamie Hawley and Rudy Riemer - $190, 6th: Jim Lass and Mike Gofron - $170, 7th: John Miller and Jim Miller - $120. Jamie and Rudy also brought in the biggest walleye of the day, weighing 1.98 pounds, which brought them an additional $290.

John and Gary's top finish places them further ahead of the pack for "Team of the Year," with 715 points. Jim Lass and Mike Gofron are in second place with 707 points. John Roscop and Dan Machnik, who placed first in the first tournament, are in third place with 695 points. It will be a close race for "Team of the Year," which pays $1000, with two qualifying tournaments remaining.

The sixth qualifying event of the season will be held on Sunday, August 30th at Steitz's Resort. The tournament entry fee is $120 per team, plus a membership fee. Come compete with the fishermen or join us at the weigh-in, which will take place at 2:00 pm on Sunday. For more information, call Scott or Tammy at (815) 675-6447.

NEIGHBORS

Name: Bob Schneider

Home: Antioch

Occupation: An office manager at The Advertiser.

Community involvement: Member of the Antioch Rotary Club for six years and president from 1996 to 1997.

I graduated from: Antioch High School, class of 1980.

My family consists of: My wife of 11 years, Kim, and Hilary, 9, and Brandon, 6.

What I like best about my neighborhood: I live on the water and near a big open space of land, and I love seeing the animals like deer, geese, and herons throughout the year.

What I like best about my job: The people I work with, they're great!

I relax by: Either working on the computer or taking the family out in the boat.

My perfect day in Antioch would be: Walking downtown with the family on a fall day and seeing the trees turning color and then going over to the Centennial Playground so the kids could have some fun playing.

Last book I read: The complete works of Jules Verne.

Favorite TV show is: "M*A*S*H."

Favorite video is: "Young Frankenstein."

Favorite movie is: "Titanic."

Favorite restaurant: It's a tie between Dover Strait's and Pizza Plus.

Favorite music: I listen to everything from Andre Reiu to ZZ Top.

Favorite musician: Billy Joel.

My life's motto is: Have fun!!"

If I won the lottery, I would: Every three years, all my relatives (around 90 of them) gather together for a family reunion. After I'd won, the next reunion would be all paid for and in Disney World.

I want to be remembered as: Someone who enjoyed life and tried to make his little corner of the world smile.

Most famous, interesting person I ever met was: Ray Nitschke (Hall of Fame football player for the Green Bay Packers).

If I had a plane ticket to anywhere, I would go to: England.

If you have a "Neighbor" that you would like to see profiled in this column, call Rhonda Hetrick Burke at 223-8161.

Talking Health

by Dr. Scott Reiser, D.C.

ALLERGIES

Conservative estimates indicate that at least 10% of Americans suffer from some type of allergy. What many people fail to realize is that an "allergy" is not a disease; it is a condition in which an individual responds negatively to a substance that doesn't affect most people adversely. Allergies can range from minor irritations, such as swollen eyes resulting from hay fever, to severe asthma attacks and anaphylaxis.

Allergy symptoms can be both uncomfortable and potentially life-threatening, therefore, traditional medical treatment consists of symptomatic relief. In many cases however, the treatment exacerbates the problem. Nasal sprays, for example, may temporarily relieve hay fever congestion, but they ultimately irritate nasal passages. When systemic medications, such as steroids and cortisone are used, already-deficient adrenal glands are further depleted, leading to increased susceptibility to allergies.

The chiropractic solution for allergies is not the suppression of symptoms, but the detection and treatment of the cause.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Our clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

A little help from his friends

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

Every once in awhile bad things happen to good people, so was the case on July 25, to an Antioch resident. Mike Bivona, age 24, was making his way down Route 173 near Lake Avenue, when some, for lack of better definition, idiot, driving the other way, came across into his lane and sheared off the whole left side of his car.

Mike sustained major injuries to his entire body, including the loss of his entire left arm. He was transported by Flight for Life up to Froedtert Memorial Lutheran Hospital in Milwaukee where he has undergone more surgeries than is conceivable and many more await him. The good doctors were able to literally piece his pelvic back together but they were unable to work any miracles on his damaged arm. He has already had over a 100 units of new blood pumped through his traumatized body, which in itself has ill affects, and although each surgery brings him closer to recovery, the procedures take a toll on his fragile anatomy.

His mother, Colleen McConahay, a first grade teacher at Antioch Lower Grade School, his family and friends, along with aunts, cousins, and grandparents, have been keeping a close vigil around Mike's bedside.

His spirits are reasonably good considering the ordeal his young body has been put through; some days are better than others. He hopes to be able to come home to Antioch sometime soon, but considering his predicament, it may be a long time in coming.

As with any catastrophic injury, the bills are mounting. So some good townsfolks here in Antioch got together to open a trust fund for Mike to help ease some of the financial burden.

If anyone would like to contribute to the fund, they may send their donation to the 1st National Bank of Chicago, Attention: Rose Sternberg, 425 Lake St., Antioch, IL, 60002. You can be assured all contributions will be greatly appreciated and utilized most appropriately. Prayers are also welcomed.

So, as it is often said, bad things do happen to good people, but it's safe to say that in a small hometown like Antioch the good people's power of perseverance will group together for one of their own. Best wishes Mike, and although the road ahead may seem full of speed bumps, you have an awful lot of well-intentioned people pulling for you.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Are you ready for some football? I know I am

Thank goodness! Don't get me wrong, I like the crack of the bat and the smell of a well-broken-in baseball glove as anyone, but there's just something about the football season.

Maybe it's because of the time of year—fall. The weather is cooling down a bit, backing off the sweltering temperatures of the 'dog days of summer.' The leaves begin to turn colors at about the same time as the mid-season progress reports some in, and the feel of a crisp, cool night in October is only enhanced by an exciting high school football game.

I can't wait to take in the scene as I attend the Mundelein at Wauconda game Friday night. The players, the cheerleaders, the parents. The hot dogs, the drinks, the nachos. The boosters, the fans, and the band.

There is nothing quite like a high school football game, and I am not alone in my thinking. Recently, Sports Illustrated named high school football as one of the things that are good about sports—that make sports great. And I couldn't agree more.

1972 Mundelein High School graduate Rich Boothe will be inducted to the Lake County High School Athletic Hall of Fame at the annual banquet Thursday, Oct. 1 at the Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth.

Booth accomplishments include being a three-sport athlete during his high school years. Boothe was named All-County in football in 1970-71, and 71-72, was the county scoring champ and was named All-Conference, All-Area, All-State and MVP.

In track, he still holds the school record of 48.9 in the 440. He was also named All-Conference in basketball in 1971-72.

Tickets are $30 per person and may be purchased at the College of Lake County Foundation Office at 543-2488. The public is invited to attend the banquet, which helps raise funds for the Keith Ryan Scholarship Program.

The Knights of Columbus from Cardinal Stritch Council No. 3674 serving Libertyville, Mundelein and Fremont Center will host an inaugural 5K Fun Run and Walk at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary on Saturday, Oct. 10 at 9:00 a.m.

For more information or to register, call Ted Muno at 566-5292.

Chicagoland Fishing has no boundaries, an educational, nonprofit volunteer organization dedicated to opening up the great outdoors to disabled individuals through the world of fishing, will be holding its 7th annual event at C. Haling and Sons Marina on Grass Lake in Antioch.

The event will be held Sept. 19 and 20, and for more information, please call (773) 481-0000.

Mustang Man

Mundelein football coach John Ahlgrim is a man amongst boys...and girls

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

For most of his days, John Ahlgrim is surrounded by women. He is a man in a women's world. He must deal with all that comes with living with a wife and five daughters. He is engulfed in the softer, gentler, more manageable side of life. That is, until he goes to work.

Ahlgrim is a high school varsity football coach, and with that title, he has to handle everything that 15-18-year-old boys can dish out. He is entrenched in the grit, grime, pain and chaos that is high school football.

'It's like night and day, but the aspects of one make you appreciate the other'

John Ahlgrim

Do the two parts of Ahlgrim's life seem like complete opposites? Well, they are, and he wouldn't have it any other way.

"It's a great thing to have this environment at work, and have a nice change at home," said Ahlgrim. "It's like night and day, but the aspects of one make you appreciate the other."

But during this time of year, Ahlgrim appreciates the home life even more. Football practice is in full swing, and as the boys from Mundelein High School are adapting to the beginning of the school year, they must also manage the hard work and long hours of their first "game week."

The Mustangs are gearing up for the season opener at Wauconda Aug. 28, and Ahlgrim amazed at how these teenagers can deal with the daily grind of the first few weeks of school combined with the rigors of two-a-day practices.

"These kids are amazing," said Ahlgrim. "We ask these kids to do a lot. The days are long and they're exhausted."

But Ahlgrim knows the feeling. As an outside linebacker for Carmel, he went through a similar regimen in his football days. After high school, he knew his football days were over, but sports remained a love of his throughout his days at the University of Notre Dame.

While a golden domer, Ahlgrim played on the rugby team and devoted his studies to mathematics, minoring in education. His interest in football never waned, and coupled with his interest in teaching, he decided that coaching was a perfect fit.

Ahlgrim's coaching career started at Holy Cross in River Oaks as an assistant, and he credits his experiences at Carmel and Notre Dame with shaping his coaching philosophy.

"They (Ahlgrim's coaches) had a big impact on me. It helps a lot that when I played at Carmel and Notre Dame, I had experiences with good coaches," said Ahlgrim. "They saw the bigger picture. A coach with that

Grayslake, Warren signal callers aiming for fast starts

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Two quarterbacks with different styles, but the same goals prepare in Grayslake and Gurnee as a new football season commences.

Mike Brandow at Warren and Matt Ellison at Grayslake would like to both go out winners as seniors.

Ellison and the Rams hope to begin a playoff push Aug. 28 when Prairie Ridge visits at 7:45 p.m.

Brandow hopes to be 100 percent for the season opener Aug. 29 at Buffalo Grove.

"I am a little more confident. After basketball, in the off-season, I got back to being 100 percent," said Brandow.

Complications following mono sidelined Brandow during the midseason.

"We have a lot of good receivers on this team. When I first started, I did not know what I was doing. Now as a senior, you learn the offense more," said Brandow.

Ellison looks to put a tough 1998 season behind him—one which saw 1,000 passing yards yet only one Grayslake win.

Ellison and the rest of the "iron man" Rams are ready for battle. A desire for a winning season has shelved the traditional platooning system.

"We want to get the best kids on the field at all times. You have to weigh that against having them be tired or possibly injured," said Rams coach Dan Dillon.

He said additional conditioning at summer camp and the desire of seniors to be on the field at all times are plusses.

"Matt knows what to expect this year. He has confidence in his passing," said Dillon of Ellison.

Alex Frank, 5-11, 180 and Mike Beverley are key returning seniors. Wes Anderson, 6-2, 225, will be a threat at tight end and running back Rob Petry, are key weapons. Travis McGhee is a senior who could see action at lineman and linebacker.

At Warren, linebacker/running back Joe Torres returns. He is described as a "110 percent effort guy. Our defense does not highlight one person, but we try to play good, team defense," said Mohapp.

Senior Andy White, a tight end last year, had a productive off-season in honing his football skills. He will also play outside linebacker.

A plethora of running backs gives Mohapp, a former back himself at Woodstock High, several choices. There is returning senior starter Jack Fritz at fullback. Or maybe promising junior C. Jay Cusker at tailback. Or senior Dante Daniels, Wade Bundy, or transfer from Carmel, Tom DePietro.

And don't forget Jose Santiago, a running back who scored the game-winning touchdown against Mundelein, saving a Homecoming win.

A group of experienced wide receivers include Jason Foster, a returning starter, Mike Zorich, and junior Josh Gray.

Both teams worked out in pads two days this week, followed by walk-through preparation and final details before the season openers.

ACHS golfers wait for weather

Mother Nature was the big winner as Antioch High's girls golf season opener was delayed.

The meet with Tremper and Palatine may be rescheduled, according to ACHS coach Steve Wapon.

"You never know with the season opener how well they will respond, so this changes things," said Wapon.

The team leaders for the first two spots as pre-season drills concluded were senior Kristen Hungarlund and junior Sara Groh. Just behind were Veronica Pazanin and Karen Drengler, seniors.

Junior Brittany Cable is expected to bring up the fifth score.

Three golfers are striving for the sixth spot. They are: senior Carrie Noonan, Jenny Barbera and Carrie Cybul, a junior.

"Kristen and Sara have the leadership. They have shown a nice ability to minimize the bad holes," said Wapon.

The new opener was Aug. 26 against Evanston and Westosha at Spring Valley Golf Course. Antioch hosts Hersey Aug. 27 before traveling for several weeks. The road matches begin Aug. 31 at Deerfield and Buffalo Grove.

Other ACHS sports events:

Field hockey is at the Deerfield tournament Aug. 29;

Girls volleyball hosts Richmond-Burton Aug. 31 and Harvard Sept. 1 to begin the season;

Girls tennis hosts Carmel in the season opener Aug. 27 and Grant Sept. 1.

AHLGRIM: MHS is young, small perspective allows you to stay more stable.

"When you look at things that way (not just wins and losses), you always win."

Ahlgrim has transformed that philosophy to fit his own coaching style.

"We've got some great kids in our program. I like them as people—I want to see them succeed."

Ahlgrim's success on the field has been less than stellar, but playing in conferences with teams like Libertyville, Stevenson and Zion-Benton, all football powerhouses, it's understandable that a smaller school like Mundelein would struggle.

Ahlgrim has posted a 7-29 record in his four years at Mundelein, and considering the school's enrollment of around 1,500 students compared to cross-town rival Libertyville's near 2,500, and the depletion of Mundelein talent from neighboring private school Carmel, the Mustangs have had an uphill climb.

"It's a numbers game (number of athletes)," said Ahlgrim, referring to Mundelein's relative lack of size. "We just don't have as many big kids on our line."

The exception that proves the rule is senior lineman Brian Palmer, who stands 6-5 and tips the scales at 270 pounds.

Mundelein needs more big players to compete for positions, making the players better due to the heightened competition, according to Ahlgrim. When an athlete faces bigger and better competition, it makes him better and brings out the best in the competitors, he added.

While he is trying to build football players out of these wily teenagers, he is also trying to help build young men.

After a day of teaching dozens of boys how to block, tackle, pass and catch, Ahlgrim can go home to enjoy the comfort of women.

After hearing the yelling, grunting, and smashing together of pads and helmets, Mundelein's guru of the gridiron needs a change of pace. He goes from surrogate father of a high school football program, to dear old dad of five loving daughters.

The serenity of home provides a place of solitude for this man amongst women. He lives a dual life whose sides are as different as black and white. And he wouldn't have it any other way.

Tierney scores second fair win in three years

John Tierney of Lake Villa, scored his second 25-lap Star Trac Outlaw Sprint Car Series Kenosha County Fair Championship feature in the past three years, before a standing room only overflow crowd at Premier Racing Production's Wilmot Speedway. Ed Devall of Waukegan, won his third IMCA modified main in time limit shortened feature.

"I wish every night could be fair night," said Tierney, admitting it was not a small engine which helped him pick up the $2,000 first prize check. "This time it is a regular 410 cubic inch engine from Gaerte. This is still fun."

The first attempt to start the main saw Star Trac pointleader Dave Moulis flip hard, end over end, in turn three after hooking the cushion of the wet, tacky track. "I hit the cushion, and we had the car set up tight to begin with," said Moulis, who was not injured, in a trackside interview during the red. "It jerked to the left, and when I overcorrected to the right, it dug in on the cushion and over I went. We will be back."

On the restart, Darrell Dodd took the lead from his outside row one starting spot. A caution on lap two slowed the field again. Dodd stayed in front until lap 7, which proved to be lucky for Tierney's car number 7. Tierney tried the outside down the backstretch, then shot to the inside on the front straightaway to take the lead. A final yellow flew on lap-8 when Joe Roe and Jim Uttech Jr., tangled in turn one. Neither driver was injured, but both cars were done for the night.

As the final 17 laps stayed green, Tierney stuck to a cushion riding line. Kurt Winker came on strong, engaging in a 3-way battle for runner-up as the final five laps ticked away. At the finish Tierney was followed by less than a car length in traffic with Winker keeping second, edging out Todd Daun and Dodd who finished third and fourth, respectively. Paul Ptasienski was fifth.

Daun, who had a injection problem while leading the fourth heat, came back to win the "C" main and the "B" main, starting 17th in the original 20-car lineup. Daun worked his way through the field using both the top and bottom of the one-third mile clay oval. Dave Hanna came from 18th to finish sixth. Fred Michaels was seventh. Joe Kristan moved up from 16th to eighth, Jim Walkanoff Jr. from 13th to ninth. Gary Dye was 10th.

The second sprint heat had Chip Bell uninjured in a turn four flip, but the car was out of action.

"I apologize to the fans for the way our division performed," said a disgusted Devall after winning his second straight curfew shortened main. "I hope I speak for all of our drivers."

Devall took the lead on the first lap after two revised lineups for a pair of false starts and two cautions for spins. A five-car pileup in turn three after one lap was completed slowed the progress again. Devall hooked up in a tight battle with Rob Olson for the next two laps, but another spin brought out the final yellow and checkered flags due to the track imposed time limit. Reverting back to the last completed lap, Devall received the victory. Olson, Lisa Heywood, Dave Holden and Jimmy Joe Urbanik completed the top five.

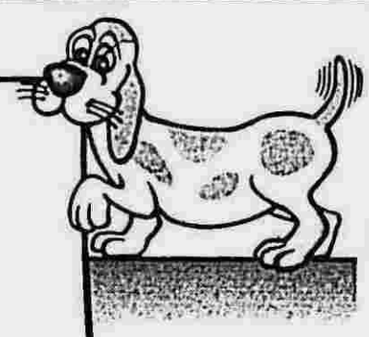

A highlight for the IMCA modifieds was a visit by Ron Parker, a retired electrician from Los Gatos, Calif. Parker and his wife, Jeanie, are touring the country competing at IMCA-sanctioned tracks. Self-nicknamed "The Over The Hill" racing team, Parker says he enjoys competing at different places because it helps to keep him from getting too aggressive and worried about point standing. Parker was credited with a 15th place finish in the 22 car feature field.

Sprint car driver, Ed Kaelber of Kansasville proposed to his girlfriend Amy Litkey during the track's nightly "Meet the Driver" feature. Litkey reportedly accepted.

Wilmot Speedway hosted its final doubleheader weekend of the season. The Star Trac Outlaw Sprints, IMCA modifieds and Wisconsin Mini-Sprint Assn. minisprints are on the Saturday, Aug. 29 program. Sprint time trials will be at 6:15 p.m. with the first race at 7:30 p.m. In addition to the on-track action, the Speedway will host its annual Model Car contest with no entry fee and entrants divided into junior and senior divisions based upon age. The monthly awarding of a bicycle to some lucky youngster in attendance Aug. 29 by the Speedway and the Speedway Bicycle Fund Sponsors will also take place. the final Sunday Fun Day will be Aug. 30 featuring the season finale for the Coors Light Cruisers two-person cars plus mini-modifieds. Sunday (Aug. 30) first race is 6:30 p.m. Both days are part of the U.S. Navy Reserve weekend at the Speedway. Wilmot Speedway is on the Kenosha County Fairgrounds. Take I-94 to Kenosha County Highway C, County C, west 12 miles to Wilmot. Go north one-quarter mile on Highway W, to the fairgrounds which features acres of free parking. ACHS' numbers up, cross country victories may follow

Dave Judson was in for a bit of a surprise when pre-season boys cross country drills started.

Some 30 boys showed up for the first day, giving the Antioch High coach the largest talent pool he has been able to choose from in years.

"It is nice to look at because last year we struggled to push ourselves. This year, the boys are working harder because there is only so many spots open for freshmen, sophomore and varsity," said Judson.

Antioch Upper Grade School is the only feeder school with cross country teams.

The season opener at the home Fox River course in Silver Lake, Wis. Sept. 3 against Harvard, Wauconda and Round Lake may do well to determine the Nos. 1-5 spots.

Senior Ryan Rothermal is in his fourth year on the varsity and ready for a break-out season.

"Ryan's desire is a lot better than last year. He is a different runner. In a track workout, I had to tell him to slow down after the first mile so the younger runners can run with him," said Judson.

Freshmen include Matt Schmitz, Jimmy Meyer and Nick Downward.

The key will be if the same work ethic is present in late October for the sectional meet.

"I would like to get our numbers consistently up there so it is the same at all levels. In the North Suburban Conference meets, they all get to run," said Judson.

The workouts now could give Antioch an investment in terms of a battle for third place in the NSC. Libertyville and Stevenson are odds-on league powers. The league meet is Oct. 17 at Warren.

Five invitationals are sprinkled throughout the schedule.

"I use invitational as a chance for them to win some hardware. I will have some younger runners down at that level so they have some success and are not discouraged," said Judson.

Antioch girls runners prepare for longer course

The 1998 girls cross country season probably will not be remembered as the one where sprinters dominated.

A 2.56 mile course will be mandatory, up from the traditional 2.0 miles for girls, according to the IHSA rules.

Harland said the new course length puts the state at a distance most other states have for cross country.

Losing six seniors to graduation, four in the top seven, gives many a new runner a chance to make her mark at Antioch.

Senior captains will be Jessica Sladek, the No. 2 runner last year, and Lauren Steinburg.

The season opener is Sept. 3 against Harvard, Wauconda and Round Lake at Fox River Course in Silver Lake, Wis.

U-11 Typhoon surge to the top at NISLS tournament in Rockford

Any apprehension that players or coaches may have had about the new season, new players, or playing on full size fields was quickly dispelled as the Lindenhurst Typhoon (Boys U-11, NISL) began their season with a real bang at the Northern Illinois Soccer League Seeding Tournament in Rockford. The seeding tournament was composed of 32 U-11 travel teams competing in round robin style play to determine the rankings for the coming season.

In the first game the Typhoon faced off against the Woodridge Storm and scored in the first minute of the game as Typhoon forward Danny Braun crossed the ball across the Storm goal and forward Darren Nordstrom headed the ball in. The second half brought more than the Storm could handle as Typhoon forward Zach Barrett exploded for three goals, with two assists from forwards Aidan Moran and Danny Braun. The final score was 4-0.

In the second game of the day the Typhoon played the highly ranked TCSA Raptors and again showed they had their game in order. Scoring early and often seemed the rule for the day as Zach Barrett put in two goals, one assisted by Ian Hunter. Hunter also scored unassisted to bring the Typhoon to a comfortable lead. Typhoon midfielder Alex McKenzie finished the Typhoon scoring for the half unassisted by lofting a long shot over the Raptor goalie. The Raptors scored once in each half and the final score was Typhoon 4-Raptors 2.

The third game was against the Darian Dynamo and the Typhoon won easily 5-0. Typhoon forward Danny Braun got another assist as he shot the ball across the Dynamo goal where forward Alex Mayer deftly placed it in the goal with his left foot. The second Typhoon goal was scored from an unlikely position by fullback Alan Kroeger who had pushed up defensively. Kroeger intercepted a Dynamo pass, pushed the ball forward and took a long shot from 30 yards out putting the ball in the goal well out of reach of the surprised Dynamo goalie. The second half was no better for the Dynamo as Typhoon forwards Kyle Kozuch and Aidan Moran scored, both off of rebounding Typhoon shots that hit the post. Midfielder Alex McKenzie scored unassisted to finish out the half. The defense in all three of the first round games was simply superb as goalies Kyle Kozuch, Ryan O'Malley, and Darren Nordstrom made some excellent saves.

The Typhoon finished the first round 3-0 and were then placed in the first place bracket cometing against the very best teams in the league. The first game was against the Bartlett Highlanders and ended in a 0-0 tie. Typhoon goalie Kyle Kozuch and fullback Luke Holm each had outstanding games to keep the Highlanders scoreless. Holm was relentless in keeping the Highlander forwards from getting within scoring distance. The next game found the Typhoon matched against another worthy opponent in the Downers Grove Roadrunners. This game also ended in a 0-0 tie as Kyle Kozuch played the entire game in goal and sweepers Brett Carlson and Eric Voight played an aggressive style that kept the ball out of the Typhoon end of the field. It was simply a game of inches as the Typhoon forwards missed close shots on several break away runs at the Roadrunner goalie. The final game pitted the Typhoon against the number two ranked team in the Platinum division last year, the Naperville Lightning Select. The Typhoon played another aggressive game and had their chances in the scoring department put couldn't put one in the net. The Lightning scored on a direct penalty kick from just outside the box and also on a clean break away shot to win the game 2-0 and advance to the finals of the tournament.

The Typhoon finished the tournament in the top six teams with a final record of 3-1-2 and can expect to move up significantly in the state rankings as a result. New team members Zachary Barrett, Aidan Moran, Luke Holm, Ryan O'Malley, and Alex Mayer each made significant contributions and along with the returning players from last years team have shown that they are ready to take Northern Illinois soccer by storm.

Duo campaigns for safe playground equipment

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

The Forest Lake subdivision in unincorporated Lake County has an attractive lake, parks and beaches, but is facing a major problem. Its playground equipment is more than 30 years old and is unsafe for children.

"A child cut his head open falling off the slide," said Forest Lake resident Vicky O'Donnell. "There have been plenty of other accidents. None of the equipment is up to code."

In an incorporated area, residents can look to their government or park district to supply funds for improvements. But since Forest Lake is unincorporated, there are no funds available from local, federal or state agencies, said O'Donnell.

O'Donnell, who has lived in Forest Lake for five years, started the Park Equipment Project Squad to raise funds to replace the outmoded equipment. She estimates that $45,000 is required for new park benches, picnic tables, swing sets and other facilities for the subdivision's community center park, west beach and south beach.

She said the annual fee of $85 residents currently pay is far from adequate to cover the cost of the new equipment.

"The dues cover the upkeep and stocking of the lake as well as maintenance such as snow removal," she said. "It's really up to the community to raise the funds necessary for safe playground equipment."

O'Donnell and her friend, Jodi DeGeorge, are launching a number of activities to raise funds for the parks. They organized a garage sale in July in which residents throughout the subdivision donated items. They are planning a craft show in November and a talent show in the spring. Thus far they have raised $1,600.

Vicky O'Donnell, left, and Jodi DeGeorge, residents of the Forest Lake Subdivision in unincorporated Lake Zurich, are attempting to raise funds for new park equipment claiming the current equipment is unsafe. They have formed the Park Equipment Project, in which they will raise money through a Beanie Baby raffle, a garage sale and a lemonade stand.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

"There's no reason that a community with this many homes can't pull together the funds that are needed," said O'Donnell. "It's a matter of knocking on doors, being heard, and explaining how imperative it is to pay something extra in addition to dues."

The Forest Lake subdivision, at Old McHenry and Quentin roads, is made up of approximately 550 homes. It was established in the early 1930s as a private community and resort area.

Family pet mauled by alleged attack dog

By LIZ THOMSEN
Staff Reporter

A stocky, tan dog, possibly a pit bull, allegedly attacked a local pet dog who was tied up in the back yard of a residence in the 100 block of Clarendon in Round Lake Beach on Aug. 23.

The incident, witnessed by children, may involve a fighting dog, bred to attack other dogs, according to family members and witnesses.

She came running back into the house, screaming that the dog's face was gone.

Round Lake Beach police could not confirm this information, or even if the attacking dog was a pit bull. An investigation is underway. Rocki, a 13-year-old sheperd mix, sustained severe facial wounds during the incident.

At first emergency veterinarian Sharon Colgan believed the injuries were caused by a gunshot wound, they were so severe. Half of the dog's muzzle was missing. Dr. Bernard Pare, the attending surgeon, told police the dog may have been kicked or hit with a blunt object, as well as attacked by a pit bull. The dog that attacked apparently clamped down on the upper part of Rocki's face and held on.

The dog was found by the owner's 10-year-old daughter at approximately 6 p.m. lying in the back yard

The girl had gone out to give the dog some scraps from dinner, when she came running back into the house, screaming that the dog's face was gone.

After being taken to All Creatures Emergency in Grayslake, the pet was moved to Deerfield Surgical Referral Services, where she remains in serious condition, undergoing reconstructive surgery.

The doctors said she will pull through, according to Rocki's owner. Her eyes are not damaged, but she will have to eat soft foods the rest of her life.

"I will never, never leave my dog outside again," said the owner, her voice breaking. "My children don't even want to go outside anymore."

The family, is especially upset that the attack may have been intentional. Their feelings are based on allegations by witnesses, and the nature of the pet's injuries.

A public bike path runs behind the house, and the only witnesses to the incident were children passing by on the bike path.

According to the police report, a juvenile witnessed four adults with a stocky, tan colored dog walk it into the back yard. The dog, still on a leash, attacked Rocki in her yard.

The family believes the dog may have been a fighting dog, that was encouraged to attack their family pet.

Round Lake Beach Police could not confirm these allegations.

"I know it was done intentionally," said the owner. "I don't know how anybody could be so cruel."

The owner of the dog spoke to police officers at the scene who said there was an active group of people in the Lake County area who raise fighting dogs.

Len Hackl, Chief Warden of Lake County Animal Control for 21 years, confirmed this report. Hackl said dogs with injuries who may have taken part in fights come in at least ten times a year. The animals often have open wounds and are covered with old scars, but the owner always has some excuse unrelated to dog fighting.

Because of what he has seen in his years as Warden, Hackl decided to build evidence against dog fighters on his own.

"I keep a list of here of names of people who have been known to be involved (in dog fighting)," said Hackl.

Dog fighting, as well as cock fighting, is accepted as a legitimate gambling sport in some cultures. It is illegal in the United States. Dog fighters engage in one practice that has chilling ramifications for neighborhood pets and children. Before owners bet money on a fighting dog in the ring, they want to test its ferocity, to see if it will be a good investment. According to Hackl this is traditional thing, a test of its prowess.

Mundelein mulls placing cellular antennas on water tower

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Just a couple months removed from denying the installation of a 100-foot cellular telecommunications tower in town, Mundelein officials are mulling the idea of placing antennas on top of the elevated water tank behind Mundelein Fire Station.

Representatives of AT&T Wireless Services presented the village board with concept plans to place nine antennas, measuring 26-inches tall, 6-inches wide and 3- to 4-inches deep on top of the 60-foot village owned water tank.

The site was chosen by the company as the last link that needed to be added to its coverage area.

Officials listened to the proposal on Aug. 17 during a committee of the whole meeting, but offered no vote one way or the other.

Instead, the board asked the village attorney to review the plan further and research the Federal Communication Commission guidelines for any wireless telecommunication requirements.

That was brought up by Trustee Steve Powell, who said he did not want the village to run into a problem with another company that had proposed installing a 110-foot tower on the property of Calvary Baptist Church, 1221 W. Maple Ave.

That proposal was rejected by board members at a June 8 meeting, based on a zoning restriction, which does not allow towers in residential zoned property, and because the tower was in excess of the village's 35-foot zoning ordinance height restriction.

Placing the antennas on the water tower is allowed in the zoning book, said Village Administrator Ken Marabella, as the tower is in the public zone, which allows them as a special use in public, commercial and industrial locations.

Lease agreements have not been finalized.

PETA offers some cool ideas for hot dogs

Whew, it's hot outside. And if you think you are about to dissolve into a puddle of sweat, pity poor Fido. Beating the heat can be tough for dogs because they can only cool themselves by panting and sweating through their paw pads.

Heat stroke can come on quickly and result in brain damage or death. Watch for symptoms, such as restlessness, excessive thirst, heavy panting, lethargy, lack of appetite, dark tongue, rapid heartbeat, fever, vomiting, or lack of coordination. If your dog shows any of these symptoms, get her to shade immediately and call your veterinarian. Lower body temperature gradually by providing water to drink, applying a cold towel or ice pack to the head, neck and chest, or immersing the dog in tepid (not cold) water.

"Every summer we hear about tragedies that could have been prevented," says PETA Cruelty Caseworker Jennifer O'Connor. "Many people do not realize how quickly animals left outside without shade or water or left in hot cars can succumb to the heat."

Prevent heat stroke by taking these precautions:

• Never leave a dog in a parked car. On a 78 degree day, the temperature inside a shaded car is 90 degrees, while a car parked in the sun can reach 160 degrees in minutes. Animals can succumb to heat stroke in just 15 minutes.

• If you see a dog in a car, take down the car's color, model, make and license plate number and have the owner paged inside the store, or call local humane authorities or police. Contact PETA for a supply of flyers on the dangers of heat stroke to leave on windshields.

• Do not carry your dog in the bed of a pick-up truck. This is always dangerous, but the heat brings the added danger of burning the dog's feet on the hot metal.

• Do not take your dog jogging—except on cool mornings or evenings—and do not force exercise. On long walks, rest often and bring plenty of water. Hot pavement can burn dogs' paws; choose shady, grassy routes.

• Trim heavy-coated dogs' fur, but leave an inch for protection against insects and sunburn. Yes dogs get sunburn. Keep an eye on a areas where hair is thin, like eyelids, ears and nose.

• Keep your dog indoors. If he must stay outside, avoid the hottest part of the day. Provide shade, water, and a kiddie pool. Keep drinking water in an anchored bucket or heavy bowl.

• Be a watchdog for chained dogs. Make sure they have food, water and shelter. If you see a dog in distress, contact humane authorities. Give the dog immediate relief by providing water.

Fox River Valley Gardens holds annual party

Saturday, Aug. 29 is the day for the annual Fox River Valley Gardens, Garden Party. The day begins at 10:30 a.m. with the kids fishing contest. Prizes are awarded for biggest fish, most fish, first fish etc. Actually, everyone who participates will receive a prize. Conner Nagorny won the prize for the biggest fish last year with a 20 inch catfish. He also hauled in a 19 inch bass from the pond at the summer campout. So bring your tackle and bait and be ready to go at 10:30 a.m. sharp. Contest ends at 12 p.m.

The ever popular bike parade starts at 1 p.m. with a police escort around South Circle Ave. All kids are welcome, just bring your decorated bike to the Village Hall before 1 p.m.

This years menu includes brats, burgers, chicken (with Gary Reicherts secret recipe), sweet corn, ice cream and more. Food will be served from 1 to 6 p.m. Liquid refreshments include, draft beer, soda and our famous Mai Tai/tropical drink bar.

The days activities include horseshoe and ping-pong tournaments, two separate games to test your golf skills, numerous games for kids of all ages, raffles for door prizes, and for entertainment, back by popular demand are the Sting Rays. They will be belting out your favorite songs from 6 p.m. until ?.

New residents from the Moorings, Port Barrington, and Riverwalk Subdivisions as well as all the residents, their friends and family are welcome to attend.

MAULED: Dog will live; must eat soft food

The dog is taken out in public. The dog owners look for another dog, a family pet or stray. The fighting dog is encouraged to attack the animal so the owners can see what kind of damage he can do.

"Sometimes it can help the State's Attorney's office prosecute these guys, if we can show they have a history," Hackl said.

The owners of Rocki may have run into this right of passage for fighting dogs. They are looking at between $4000 to $6000 in veterinarian bills as well as injuries to a beloved member of their family. The owner is just thankful she's still alive.

"Imagine if it had been a child the dog had encountered first instead of Rocki," she said.

Round Lake Beach has ordinances against dangerous, or vicious dogs. "Any person permitting such a dog to run at large may be arrested and fined..." reads the ordinance.

Two charged with child neglect

Fox Lake—Owners of an Eagle Point Road home declared unfit to live in on July 26 because of excessive amounts of animal feces, garbage and other human waste are now facing child neglect charges from the Fox Lake Police Department.

According to Fox Lake Police Chief Ed Gerretsen, Carter Hoyt, 42, and his wife Shirley, 37, were both arrested on charges of endangering the health of a child, a warrant issued through the Fox Lake Police Department and signed by a Lake County Judge.

The Hoyt's turned themselves in peacefully to the police department after the warrants were issued, Carter turned himself into police on Friday, Aug. 21, while Shirley turned herself into police on Monday, Aug. 24. Both Hoyt's paid the required 10 percent of the $2,500 bond. A court date of Sept. 8 has been set for arraignment.

According to Gerretsen, charges were levied against the Hoyt's for the conditions that the Hoyt's three children were living in. The charges came after an inspection of the home on 149 Eagle Point Road revealed the house was infested and littered with fleas, animal feces and piles of waste.

Also living in the home were 36 animals, including at least five dogs, birds, snakes and turtles. The home's plumbing was not working at the time and there was a reported gas leak in the home, apparently drowned out by the smell the home radiated.

Police responded to the home in July to assist the Lake County Animal Shelter gain access to the home. After the discovery, Fox Lake Building Commissioner Bill Hart declared the home unfit to live in.

PM&L opens with 'I Hate Hamlet'

Antioch— I Hate Hamlet opens the 38th season of PM&L productions on Friday, Sept. 18.

PM&L is promoting their clutch of new plays as "a saucy season of sin, song, smiles, suspense, and Shakespeare."

First onto the boards is I Hate Hamlet, directed by Deane Jones of Round Lake. It is described as a hilarious comedy written by Paul Rudnik.

The play will be presented Sept. 18, 19, 25, 26, Oct. 2, and 3 at 8 p.m.

Matinee performances are on Sept. 20, 27, and Oct. 4 at 2:30 p.m.

Annie Warbucks, a sequel, will be presented Nov. 20 to Dec. 13.

Sleuth, a suspense thriller, will be presented Feb. 5 to Feb. 21.

Much Ado about Nothing by William Shakespeare, will appear April 9 through April 25.

Bye Bye Birdie, filled with songs, arrives June 4 through the 27th.

Lie, Cheat and Genuflect, described as a sinfully funny farce, opens July 30 until Aug. 15.

Season passes are available by calling the telephone reservation number. Starting Sept. 7, people may purchase a season pass by mail with a check enclosure.

Mail reservations may be sent to PM&L at Box 23, Antioch, 60002. The theater is located at 877 Main Street, the corner of Main Street and Orchard Avenue.

GCHS gets $4 M building grant

Grayslake—The state has awarded a $4 million Capital Development Grant to Grayslake Community High School.

The grant will only be given to the school if they are able to pass a referendum to build an addition. If it doesn't pass the district could lose the money entirely.

Superintendent Ray Novak said the district is expected to finalize its referendum question for the November 1998 election ballot by Aug. 28.

The district will be asking voters to approve a $20 million referendum for an addition and a land purchase of 50 acres. Novak said the district would most likely build a second school on the land by 2002.

The district has five plan variations of additions to the school including an auditorium. The addition is needed to relieve overcrowding.

This year's enrollment will come close to 1,500 students.

"According to the state figures, we're 400 over capacity," said Novak. "The hallways are impassable."

He said if the referendum is approved in November, the district will be ready to bid the project in order to get a quick start on construction.

Walgreens seeks site near school

Lake Villa—Village zoning board of appeals members offered hope to Walgreen Drug Stores on Thursday, Aug. 20.

Members passed a motion to recommend a zoning change from residential to commercial use on 6 lots on Grand Avenue.

Also, village plan commission members requested additional information before they give further consideration Thursday, Sept. 3 to a preliminary plan proposal and request for a parking variation for a Walgreen Drug Store on the south side of Grand Avenue immediately west of the Condell Medical Building.

According to Bret Boyd, representing Walgreen Drug Stores, the drug store chain would like to build a 13,905 square-foot store this fall in Lake Villa at that location.

"The zoning change is one of the critical steps," said Boyd. "I want to work with the village as much as I can."

Plan and zoning board members, village consultants, and village officials identified areas of major concern regarding the proposed drug store site plan.

Dist. 79 rejects charter school

Mundelein—Not many school district's in Lake County have extra money to throw around, and Fremont School District 79 is among them. That is why a majority of the district's school board voted 6-1 to deny approving a charter school for the Prairie Crossings area. Board member Sue Kinsey cast the only vote in favor of the charter at the board's Aug. 24 meeting.

"It would be a real hardship for the district," said Patricia Masterton, director of business. The board also stated the proposal had not changed from the one presented two years ago, which was also rejected.

Prairie Crossings representatives said they will continue to seek approval from Woodlands School District 50 in Gages Lake, and will also consider appealing the Dist. 79 decision to the state.

ACT scores increase at WHS

Wauconda—Students of Wauconda High School are scoring higher on their college entrance exams then before, according to district officials. The ACT scores for 1997-98 are in, and show WHS students who took the exam last year had an average score of 22.9, an increase of 1.9 points from the previous year, said Dr. John F. Barbini, superintendent of Wauconda Unit District 118.

The score is higher than both the national composite score of 21, and the state average of 21.5, he said. Barbini said district administrators believe the "Super Saturday" practice ACT exam was a boost. "We think that had a big impact on getting the kids ready to take this test," he said.

All students who took the WHS ACT Prep Class were invited to take a practice ACT exam one-week before the spring 1998 ACT exam. The prep class is a fee-based course held in the evenings after school.

Parents unite against gangs

Round Lake—Hispanic parents, with the help of local teens and police officers, are going gang-busters on a plan to keep teens out of gangs in the Round Lake area.

The first United Residents for Gang Prevention in May attracted so much interest, that the group has formed a fund raising group.

"There were a lot of teenagers there, I was surpirsed," said Round Lake Police officer Lt. Charles Foy. "The bigger it gets, the better off we will be."

Entertainment Village plans outlined

Gurnee—While developers continued to tout the praises of a 500 room hotel and overall benefits of a Six Flags expansion project, the concern of residents remained the same.

That is: traffic, traffic and traffic.

Gurnee plan commission members considered the expansion plan requests and continued it to the Sept. 16 meeting. A water park, employee housing, destination hotel and conference center are among factors being proposed by Prism Development on a 134 acre parcel.

Many of those attending the continued public hearing were from the South Ridge subdivision.

The traffic study presented was updated after the events center, which had a 12,000 seat capacity, was put on the back burner.

The importance of a tollway interchange at Washington Street before the $400 million expansion is implemented was not on commissioners or residents.

"There seemed to be a higher commitment to the interchange when plans were presented to the blue ribbon committee. We felt the interchange should happen sooner rather than later," said commissioner James Sula.

David Miller, president of Metro Transportation, presented improvements to area roadwork. The employee housing component is not expected to add much to traffic.

Regarding the hotel, Rick DeFlon, architect, told of plans for a multiple story hotel with views of a 26-acre conservation area. A convention center with 65,000 square feet of floor space would be included.

He said the hotel would be reflective of the village's architecture characteristics. Features include a gymnasium, pool, spas, restaurant and underground parking.

Buy out program loaded with lessons

There's a lot to be learned from the sorry situation in Williams Park Subdivision, Wauconda, where flooding is so bad the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is making $1.3 million available to purchase and raze 26 homes. Lake County will kick in more than $400,000 to make the buy out happen.

County taxpayers are getting a double whammy to end the usually twice-a-year misery heaped on beleagured owners of homes built over a peat bog. Ward Miller, executive director of the county's Stormwater Management Commission, wholeheartedly endorses the federal buy out, saying "it's the only solution." The subdivision will revert back to what it originally was, a natural area.

Flooding results when stormwater cascades from three directions into a natural depression in the land. Indiscrimate building basically is at the root of Williams Park flooding. Hopefully, we've advanced beyond the combination of neglect, indifference and ignorance that created the infamous bi-annual Williams Park floods.

It's chilling to think that there probably are other Williams Parks in Lake County. Bank on it that a few people know and a few more suspect. But they're not talking—-yet.

Use dollars to find site for hazard waste center

Now that public outcry forced the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO) to abandon plans to locate a collection center and temporary storage site for hazardous materials in the Village of Round Lake, the search continues for a suitable location.

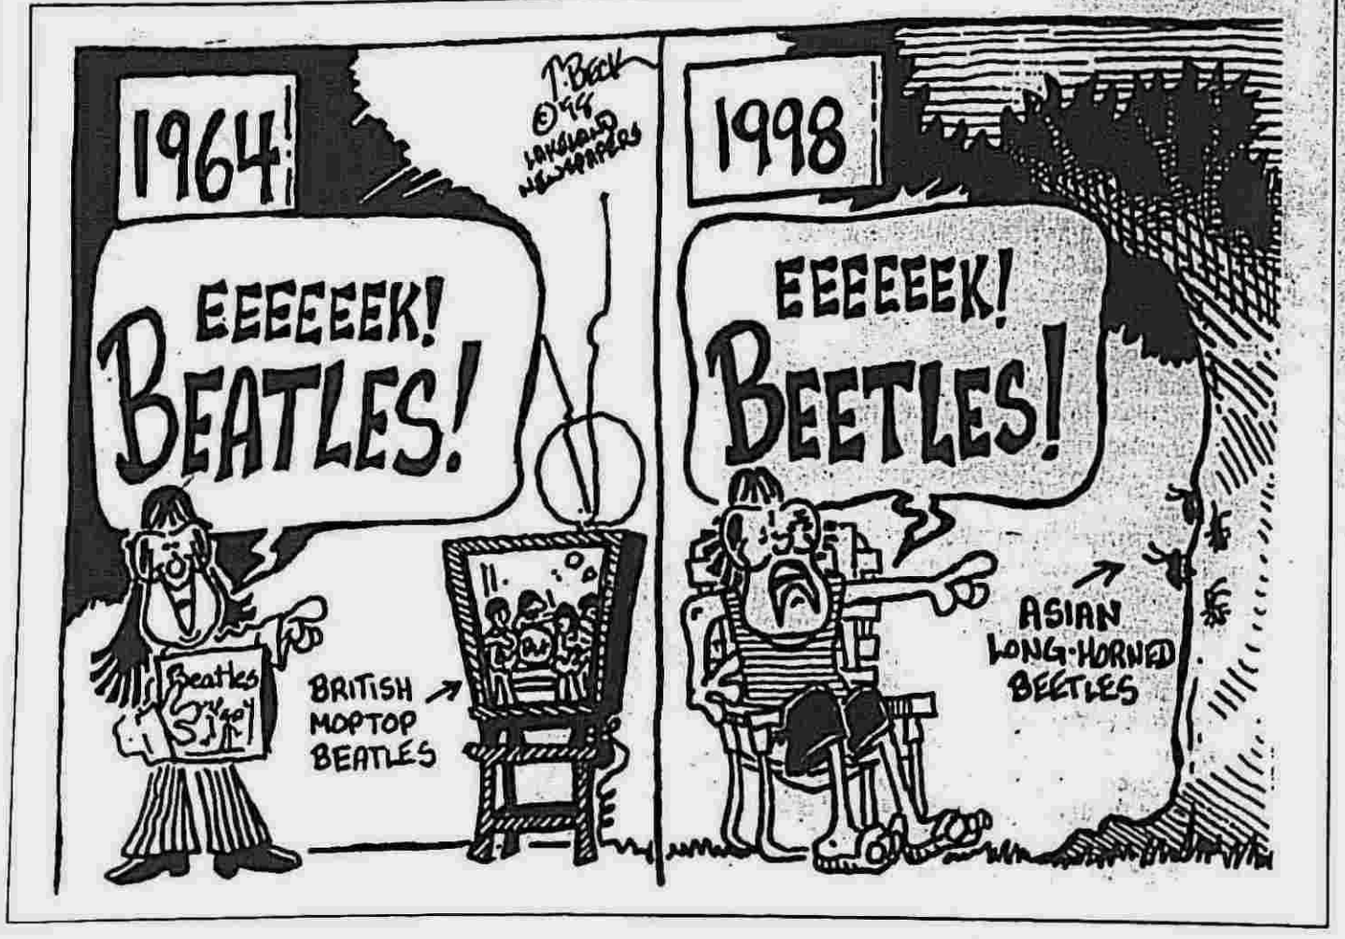

Meanwhile, stuff like paint thinner, batteries, insecticides and household chemicals continues to collect in basements and garages. What to do?

SWALCO might well consider hanging an attractive price tag on a home for a collection center much the same way officials did when expansion of a huge county landfill was up for consideration. The concept of a "host community" was conceived with $1 million annual gratuity. The fact that Grayslake was the only possible "host" was beside the point. Grayslake officials literally brokered their cooperation and support for landfill expansion and the village and its citizens are the richer for it. The same approach, although on a smaller scale, could be used for the hazardous waste center.

Lake County faced a garbage disposal crisis until a deal was worked out with Grayslake. Siting hazardous wastes temporarily for permanent disposal elsewhere isn't a county crisis now and probably never will be. But the problem won't go away until enough money is put on the table to identify a "host community." Watch how dangling the dollars will make a difference

VIEWPOINT

Great experiment nearing conclusion?

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

America's great experiment with debasing moral standards and dumbing down our culture may be nearing an end.

Encouraging signs are evident—- declining birth rate among unwed mothers, shrinking welfare rolls, increasing personal investment, the significant decline of AIDS among gays.

Yes, substance abuse still is rampant, credit card debt is out of control, especially among the young, gangs abound, media exploitation of the purient, the national love fest with the bazaar and fraudulent celebrity continues, an attitude of permissiveness still pervades society.

But ever growing conservatism, mounting activity to protect the environment, a rising middle class among minorities are among the healthy guide posts.

On the pages of U.S. history, the eight tormenting years of the presidency of William Jefferson Clinton likely will be regarded as the last flicker of a torch ignited in the early 1960s when American youth said "to hell with everything but sex." To hell with parents, church, personal integrity (and hygiene), respect for authority, teachers, leaders, etc.

The turning point came in 1992 when elite media voices assured the country that "character doesn't count," a dubious promise that paved the way for the election of philandering con man from a third rate state. Almost as quickly as the crude, but wily Arkansan settled into the White House, the corrective process began that character, indeed, does count. We can only lament that reiteration of the precept that truth and honesty in both high places and low places is infinitely important, a cornerstone to all things good, has been painful.

Sixteen more months of Clinton twitching and flapping could well bring the national disgrace to an end. We can wait. We will survive.

Cradle anniversary

The Cradle, once synonymous with adoption in this locality, will be in the limelight Sept. 26 when the Evanston based agency observes its 75th anniversary. Actress Jamie Lee Curtis and her husband, comedian Christopher Guest, will be the guests of honor. They are the parents of two adopted children.

Volunteers needed

May Reddick has the answer for Lake County residents with a desire for performing meaningful community service. Become a PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) volunteer. As executive director of PADS operated by Connection Resource Services, Reddick has issued an invitation for volunteers needed to man PADS centers opening Oct. 1 in Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Lindenhurst, North Chicago, Wauconda, Waukegan and Wildwood.

Volunteers are needed for four-hour shifts between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. Interested persons are invited to attend orientation sessions beginning Sept. 1 at seven different locations. Orientations will be conducted at Waukegan, Wauconda, North Chicago, Mundelein, Lake Forest, Vernon Hills and Deerfield. Call 689-4357 x103 for information.

What's missing here?

In a mailing to constituents, State Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington) did a good job of explaining how the state provided additional funding for education, fighting crime, staffing the Lake County Juvenile Justice Center, cost-of-living increases for social service workers and other accomplishments—all without an increase in taxes. Job well done! Now there's the revival of a movement on the County Board to raise taxes for highways. Something's wrong with this picture. Can anyone please explain?

Tollway working for county transportation solution

A recent Lakeland Newspaper's editorial entitled "Core city's future tied to Route 53 plans" suggests that development and growth in Lake County could be less than forecast as a result of growing investor interest in inner city opportunities. The information source cited for this theory is a 1995 article in the Harvard Business Review entitled "The Competitive Advantage of the Inner City," written by Professor Michael Porter.

Professor Porter's article does not assert that increased inner city economic development would result in any reduction in suburban population growth or economic development. The focus in the article is on his theory that the best way to revitalize inner city economies is for responsible government entities to move away from "social models built around meeting the needs of individuals" and switch to supporting "private, for-profit initiatives and investment based on economic self-interest and genuine competitive advantage."

The "true advantages of the inner city" cited by Professor Porter can include locations adjacent to downtown business centers, local consumer purchase potentials, access to developed "regional clusters" of related companies, and the availability of large pools of potentially trainable labor. He also cites the "real disadvantages of the inner

Durbin-Porter dust only surface

Porter: Fort Sheridan land issue not just sticky.

Anderson: Guest of honor at GOP picnic

Stride: Former state's attorney eyes state house

U.S. Senator Dick Durbin and Congressman John Porter are engaged in a tugging match over 14 acres at Fort Sheridan that the City of Lake Forest has designated for a municipal services center. In plain English, Lake Forest is looking for a place to store trucks and stuff.

The Durbin-Porter shoving match has a decidedly sticky side. Porter is being accused by Lake Forest opponents, among them Highland Park Mayor Ray Geraci, of tilting the table for Lake Forest. Porter backers have pointed out that Durbin is shilling for former U.S. Senator Alan Dixon, a fellow Democrat and now a lobbyist working for Highland Park to help turn part of the military land into residential property.

Did we say "sticky?" Dixon's son and daughter-in-law are doing PR work for Town of Fort Sheridan Co., the developers. And to think that on the surface the entanglement looks like a typical partisan issue, Durkin (Democrat) vs. Porter (Republican). Guess again.

GOP picnicking

Lillian Golonka, Antioch Republican activist, is general chairman of the 31st annual Lake County Republican Family picnic Sunday, Aug. 30, at Lambs Farm, a first time location for the event held for a number of years at Holiday Park, Ingleside, and before that at the Serbian Monastery grove, Libertyville. Part of the festivities will be a special salute to retiring County Treasurer Jack "Red" Anderson, who is stepping down after 20 years in office and more than 30 years as a county employee.

Striding Stride

Attorney Chris Stride has put his law practice on hold while campaigning virtually full time for election as state representative from the 59th District, Lake County's most diverse legislative district. While serving as an assistant state's attorney, Stride gained a reputation as a hate crime and rape specialist.

The rambling 59th, now represented by Corinne Wood, who is the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, includes part of Libertyville, south side of Waukegan, Lake Bluff, Lake Forest and part of west Deerfield Township and a section of Highland Park.

Sports nicknames getting nuttier

THE PFARR CORNER
Jerry Pfarr

One, two, three, four; who are we for?

The responses to that old cheer, at least in these parts, have been the Cubs, White Sox, Bears, Packers, Black Hawks and Bulls. Conventional, old-fashioned sports nicknames.

But new-fashioned nicknames are popping up on the playing fields. I mentioned that in March, noting there are professional soccer teams called the New England Revolution, the Tampa Bay Mutiny, the Dallas Burn and the Miami Fusion, whatever that's supposed to mean.

And basketball has the Miami Heat, the Orlando Magic and the Toronto Raptors, while new hockey teams include the Atlanta Thrashers and the Nashville Predators.

That's quite a departure from the days when teams mostly were nicknamed after animals, birds, cowboys, Indians, saints and devils, plus all kinds of canines and every cat in the jungle.

Most of our Lakeland area high schools have normal nicknames: Rams, Mustangs, Blue Devils, Panthers, Wildcats, Bulldogs and, in Lake Zurich, the Bears.

Since the previous column on this subject, friends have called to my attention there are minor-league hockey teams known as the Macon Whoopee and the Jacksonville Lizard Kings, and minor-league baseball teams called the Winston-Salem Warthogs, the Batavia Muckdogs and the Lansing Lugnuts.

An article in the Chicago Tribune noted one of the reasons teams have been skipping traditional mascots for something more funky is to attract and entice fans. It's cool these days to wear something wacky on caps, T-shirts and sweat shirts.

Souvenir sales in the minor leagues have skyrocketed from $2.5 million in 1991 to $34 million last year. It's a way bush-league teams can survive financially and laugh all the way from the box office to the bank.

The Lansing, Mich., Lugnuts have become one of the top sellers of logo paraphernalia.

However, when new teams select their nicknames, I fear they sometimes forget that headline writers, faced with limited space, may abbreviate them beyond recognition. For example, the new baseball team, the Arizona Diamondbacks (named after a rattlesnake, of all mascots) become the D-Backs.

The Yankees, of course, are called the Yanks, the Cardinals the Cards, the Indians the Tribe, the Phillies the Phils and the Orioles the Os.

In football, the Packers are shortened to the Pack, the Redskins to the Skins, the Buccaneers to the Bucs, the Patriots to the Pats and the Dolphins to the Fish.

I imagine in Lansing, Mich., the Lugnuts sometimes are labeled the Lugs, or maybe the Nuts.

Two of my favorite nicknames belong to Illinois high school teams. At Hoopeston in Vermilion County, the "Sweet Corn Capital of the World," kids in the area used to get up at 3 a.m. to go out and pick corn before they went to school. The kids called it corn-jerking and their sports teams became the Cornjerkers.

In Cobden it's the Appleknockers, because almost every kid in town has worked in the orchards thinning apples. They have to knock some off the trees so others can get big.

I don't even want to guess how headline writers, cramped for space, shorten the nicknames Cornjerkers and Applenockers.

city," relative to alternative (primarily suburban) locations. His list includes higher land and building costs; higher costs for utilities, workers compensation, health care, insurance permitting and real estate taxes; security challenges; infrastructure deficiencies; employee and management skills deficiencies; limited access to capital; and anti-business attitudes among local populations.

Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) City of Chicago 2020 projections suggest a dynamic and vital city, with strong population (+221,612) household (+126,518) and employment (+262,114) growth, relative to 1990. Even the most conservative of the several NIPC 2020 projections—one which assumes no major changes in existing Lake County transportation systems and the existence of a south suburban airport—projects a 45 percent (+232,905) increase in Lake County population and a 54 percent (+122,740) increase in Lake County employment, vs. 1990.

It's clear that already congested Lake County transportation infrastructures will be inadequate to meet the transportation needs indicated by even the most conservative of NIPC's Lake County growth projections. In order to develop and evaluate solutions to this challenge, ISTHA and IDOT have joined forces in the Lake County Traffic Improvement Project. We look forward to working with regional planning organizations, area transportation providers and key civic and elected officials in this effort.

Mental Health Care is a necessary, not luxury

The recent shootings on Capital Hill have sadly demonstrated the tragedy of severe brain disorders. I sponsored Legislation in the Illinois House of Representatives, House Bill 111, which would reduce the health insurance discrimination which prevents many severely mentally ill patients from getting the medical care that they need. While this legislation will not solve all of the problems which untreated or under-treated mental illness causes, it's a good start.

The bill was passed by a large majority in the House, but the Senate failed to bring the issue to a vote. Yet there is no reason—including cost—to oppose this legislation, and the reasons for passing it are overwhelming.

First, science has demonstrated that major brain disorders are rooted in biology. Despite this, most insurance policies still deny or drastically reduce treatment for diseases such as severe depression or schizophrenia. There is no logical reason to treat these illnesses differently than other serious maladies.

Second, it is costing much more to ignore or under-treat these illnesses than to treat them. The indirect costs of not treating mental illnesses include lost productivity, premature deaths, crime and remedial social welfare programs. The indirect costs are high, in part, because severe mental illnesses tend to strike individuals who are at the start of their most productive years. That is why treatment and prevention offer great savings opportunities. Furthermore, when companies refuse to adequately insure their own employees for such brain disorders, the burden falls on the public health system and all taxpayers.

Many states (including Maryland, Texas and Minnesota) have successfully, and economically, implemented legislation similar to HB111. It is working. It is not breaking the bank or driving companies out of business. It is serving people who desperately need medical care.

Third, Illinois citizens believe that people with severe mental illness should have the same health insurance protection as those who suffer from cancer, diabetes or other brain diseases such as Parkinson's disease or epilepsy.

Finally, I am sponsoring HB111 because it is the right thing to do.. I will continue to work toward passage of this important legislation.

Facts dictated response

In a recent letter to the editor, Norm Geary criticized my wife, County Clerk Willard Helander, for a one-time request that reporters submit their questions to her office in writing so that her responses could be accurately answered and reported. That request has since ended. The request, Mr. Geary, was made to have a written record of steps she had taken to improve the office and to prevent rumors and falsehoods from "becoming fact" by their mere repetition and appearance in print.

Willard had the experience of a reporter tape recording her answers to an interview, ignoring those answers and printing a story 180 degrees in the opposite direction. That untrue story became the basis for a number of personal attacks.

The upshot of those printed attacks exploded in the form of a fire set one night in at our home. Before it was all over, the fire had knocked out electricity for everyone on our block and required three fire trucks to contain.

Mr. Geary, imagine for a moment, if you are a husband and father, what it must be like to arrive home from a late business meeting, hoping to catch the news before bed and instead finding most of your town's fire department in your yard and your 10-year-old daughter in tears and asking you if someone is going to burn her alive in her bed. Imagine what it must be like to have a neighbor who is a fire and police director tell you point-blank to take the incident very seriously and to install a security system to protect your family.

Needless to say, my family and I stand behind the reforms my wife has made are very proud of the hard work and technology she has brought to the office. Asking reporters to submit questions in writing for a brief time does not seem like a very big request from where I have been.

These are a few of my favorite things

As we make our journey through life, we tend to surround ourselves with tangible memories. For one it may be a photo album containing priceless family pictures. Another may have a collection of favorite books. Still another may collect art, furniture or antique automobiles.

As a writer, one of my favorite collections is the written wisdom of others. I enjoy great quotes, prose and short common-sense essays.

In this fifth column of the month, I want to share a few of my favorite written pieces. I hope you will find a few "keepers" to add to your collection of favorite things.

The essence of learning

• It is what you learn after you know it all that counts.—John Wooden

• What counts is not necessarily the size of the dog in the fight—it's the size of the fight in the dog—Dwight D. Eisenhower

• Everyone lives by selling something.—Robert Lewis Stevenson

• The plans of the diligent lead to success—. Proverbs 21:5

• If you think you can or think you cannot, you are right—Henry Ford

• The longer I live, the more I realize the impact of attitude on life. Attitude, to me, is more important than facts. I am convinced that life is 10 percent what happens to me and 90 percent how I react to it. And so with you—we are in charge of our attitudes.—Charles Swindol.

• Better to remain silent and be though a fool, than to speak out and remove all doubt.—Abraham Lincoln

Author unknown

The following two pieces have been attributed to a number of different writers. I can find no accurate source for either piece. However, they are two of my favorite writings, so I share them as "author unknown."

The Man in the Glass

When you get what you want in your struggle for wealth
And the world makes you king for a day,
Just go to the mirror and look at yourself
And see what the Man has to say.

For it isn't your father or mother or wife,
Whose judgment upon you must pass
The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the Man staring back from the glass.

Some people may call you a straight shootin' chum
And say you're a wonderful guy,
But the Man in the glass will say you're a bum
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

He's the fellow to please, never mind all the rest,
For he's with you clear to the end,
And you've passed your most dangerous, difficult test
If the Man in the glass is your friend.

You may fool the whole world,

Abbott's chapter of Sigma XI recognizes '98's outstanding area science, math teachers

The Abbott Laboratories chapter of Sigma XI, a nation scientific research organization recognized four Lake County teachers as "Outstanding Teachers of the year" for their contributions to science add math education.

Honored were Paula Thomas of, Waukegan who teaches science at Lyon Magnet Applied Learning Academy in Waukegan; Tim Kuehl of Grayslake, a math teacher at Hawthorn Junior High School in Vernon Hills; Daniel Coad of Waukegan, a math teachers at Lake Forest High School in Lake Forest; and Tamara Cooney of Mundelein, a science teacher at Lake Forest High School in Lake Forest.

Each teacher received a savings bond from Abbott's chapter of Sigma Xi. Inn addition, the teachers received grants to purchase laboratory supplies for their schools. The high school received $1,000 for each winning teacher, and each of the other schools received a $500 grant.

The Abbott chapter of Sigma Xi selected teachers for the award based on student nominations in Lake County and Kenosha area schools. The teachers are recognized at the Sigma Xi annual banquet every May.

"Teachers play an essential role in developing students' interest in Science and math," said Don Eisenhauer , Ph.D., of Deerfield, president of Abbott's Sigma Xi chapter. "It's important to recognize teachers who make learning exciting and show how science and math are applied in the real world."

The goal of Sigma Xi is to advance scientific research, to encourage information sharing among scientists, and to assist with the wider understanding of science.

Abbot Laboratories is a global, diversified health care company devoted to the discovery, development, manufacture and marketing of pharmaceutical, diagnostic, nutritional and hospital products. Nearly 15,000 Abbott employees and retirees reside in the area surrounding Abbott's operations in Lake County, Illinois.

Lake County clerk staff trained on paternity program

Three staff members in the Vital Records Department of the Lake County Clerk's office were trained recently by the Illinois Departments of Public Health and Public Aid on legally establishing paternity for children of unwed parents. Supervisor Linda Wright and Clerks Todd Govain and Ivette Diaz attended the seminar, on the Hospital Opportunity for Paternity Establishment (HOPE), Voluntary Acknowledgment of Paternity program and the Paternity Establishment Program.

Establishing paternity is an important step in obtaining financial aid for the child and counseling for both parents. Children of unwed parents with established paternity can receive benefits such as Social Security, disability and inheritance rights. Since the program began in 1993, HOPE has assisted in establishing more than 43,134 legal parent/child relationships. Legislation passed in 1996 extended the program to include county clerks, state registers and all hospitals which run birthing units. Parents can obtain necessary forms at the local clerk's or register's office which may be witnessed by the clerk or register.

Legislation enacted in 1998 further builds on the program by providing that parents must be given oral and written explanations of their legal rights and responsibilities when establishing paternity.

Willard Helander, Lake County Clerk, is enthusiastic about the programs, commenting, "Once parents understand the tremendous advantages of legally established parenthood for a child, the majority don't hesitate to at least learn more about the issues involved. The protection of a child's rights is an important responsibility of county clerks through our participation in the national I-SEARCH program and protecting against the misuse of birth records. Our office is eager to keep updated on such programs to ensure the safety and rights of children."

Grand National Bank gives away grand prize trip to Las Vegas

Grand National Bank/Island Lake announced the prizewinners of their grand opening celebration drawing. Jodi Bleecker, Bob Buckley and Sheree Harris, all residents of Island Lake, were the lucky prizewinners; their names were drawn from more than 2,500 entries.

The grand prize was a trip for two to Las Vegas for a five day/four night stay at the MGM Grand Casino & Resort; second prize was an authentic autographed photo of Michael Jordan and Scottie Pippen; third prize was a $300 gift certificate for a shopping spree at the store of their choice.

The prize drawing was part of a weeklong celebration for Grand National Bank's new full service facility located at the corner of Newport Ct. and Route 176 in Island Lake. This new location provides easy access and many new amenities such as drive-through banking, client parking and an ATM machine.

Grand National Bank is part of Grand Premier Financial, Inc. (GPFI), a multi-line financial services company offering traditional banking, insurance, trust and investment products to its clients throughout Northern Illinois. GPFI is a $1.6 billion dollar bank holding company headquartered in Wauconda. The company's stock is traded on The NASDAQ stock market under the symbol of GPFI.

Domino's Pizza recognizes 3,500 outstanding students

The final numbers are in fro Domino's Pizza's popular student recognition program—and do they ever add up! During the past school year, Domino's Pizza and schools throughout the area recognized outstanding achievement by more than 3,500 local students, representing a staggering growth rate of 179 percent in just one year. The program is designed to provide local schools a way to reward positive behavior among their students.

The Outstanding Student Program was created by Steve Chiodo, President of Chiodo Corporation and Dan Shanahan, President of D.D.S. Pizza Enterprises, Inc. "We view the Outstanding Student Program as a great way to partner with the community," according to Chiodo.

"Too often, today's students hear many negatives about themselves, about the way they act and about their schools," said Shanahan. "At the same time, there are plenty of good students and good programs that deserve recognition. The Outstanding Student Program offers principals and teachers a way to recognize outstanding achievement."

The privately-funded program works with sc hools in Lake County, and Kenosha County, Wis. Each recognized student receives a certificate of achievement signed by their Principal along with a letter from Stev e and Dan and a gift certificate for a free Domino's Pizza. The value of this program for the past school year exceeded $40,000.00 and was paid for in its entirety by the two Franchisees. A popular feature of the program is that each school chooses it's own criteria for selecting their winners.

Shanahan operates the Domino's Pizza stores in Antioch, Beach Park, Fox Lake, Libertyville, Mundelein, Round Lake and Zion, and Kenosha, Wis. while Chiodo operates the stores in Gurnee and Waukegan. Both Franchisees sponsor various other school and community-oriented fundraising activities. For more information about Domino's Pizza school programs in Lake and Kenosha Counties or about any of the other fundraising opportunities, contact Steve Chiodo at 847-223-8388 or Dan Shanahan at

'Snail Mail' resumes still have the edge in the job market

Survey shows employers prefer traditional means of receiving resumes

Job candidates who want to make the best impression with a prospective employer should opt for a trip to the corner mailbox before faxing or e-mail their resumes, suggests a new survey. While the majority of the nation's top executives were neutral on the subject, one fifth (21 percent) said they prefer to receive resumes the old-fashioned way — via regular mail.

The survey was developed by Office Team, a leading staffing service specializing in highly skilled temporary office administrative professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm and includes response from 150 executives with the nation's 1,000 largest companies. Respondents were asked: "What is the preferred method at your firm for receiving resumes?"

Their responses:

By Mail	21%
By Fax	8%
By e-mail	4%
In person	1%
Don't know	2%
No preference	64%
	100%

"Executives often prefer the mailed version of a resume because of what it reveals about the job seeker," said Diane Domeyer, executive director of Office Team..

"It shows a candidate has extended a greater effort to personalize the information. In addition, such elements as the choice of paper, quality of printing and layout of the document give insight to overall professionalism." However, Domeyer said the ideal approach is to the fax or e-mail the resume for expediency, and explain that the hard copy is on its way.

Tricia Vanella, Office Team branch manager, said, "The more informal delivery system of e-mail or fax might cause some job seekers to become lax or rushed to the detriment of the appearance of the resume and cover letter. Regardless of the vehicle, hiring managers will notice attention to detail."

Office Team has 200 locations worldwide. Its Internet address is www.officeteamm.com.

Expanded hours leads to new jobs at Waukegan Savings and Loan

As part of its ongoing commitment to customer service, Waukegan Savings and Loan SB recently expanded their hours at their Tenth street location. As a result, the historic Waukegan thrift has added several new positions to accommodate the new schedule. According to information from Theodore (Ted) Stanulis, president of Waukegan Savings and Loan, a total of eight new employees have been added this quarter.

"Waukegan Savings and Loan is very happy with the response to our longer hours at Tenth Street," noted Stanulis. "Naturally, we need new employees to handle the new customers and additional transactions. We're especially pleased that this move has led to new job opportunities in the community. In the last few months, we've added two new Loan Officers, a new receptionist and several new tellers."

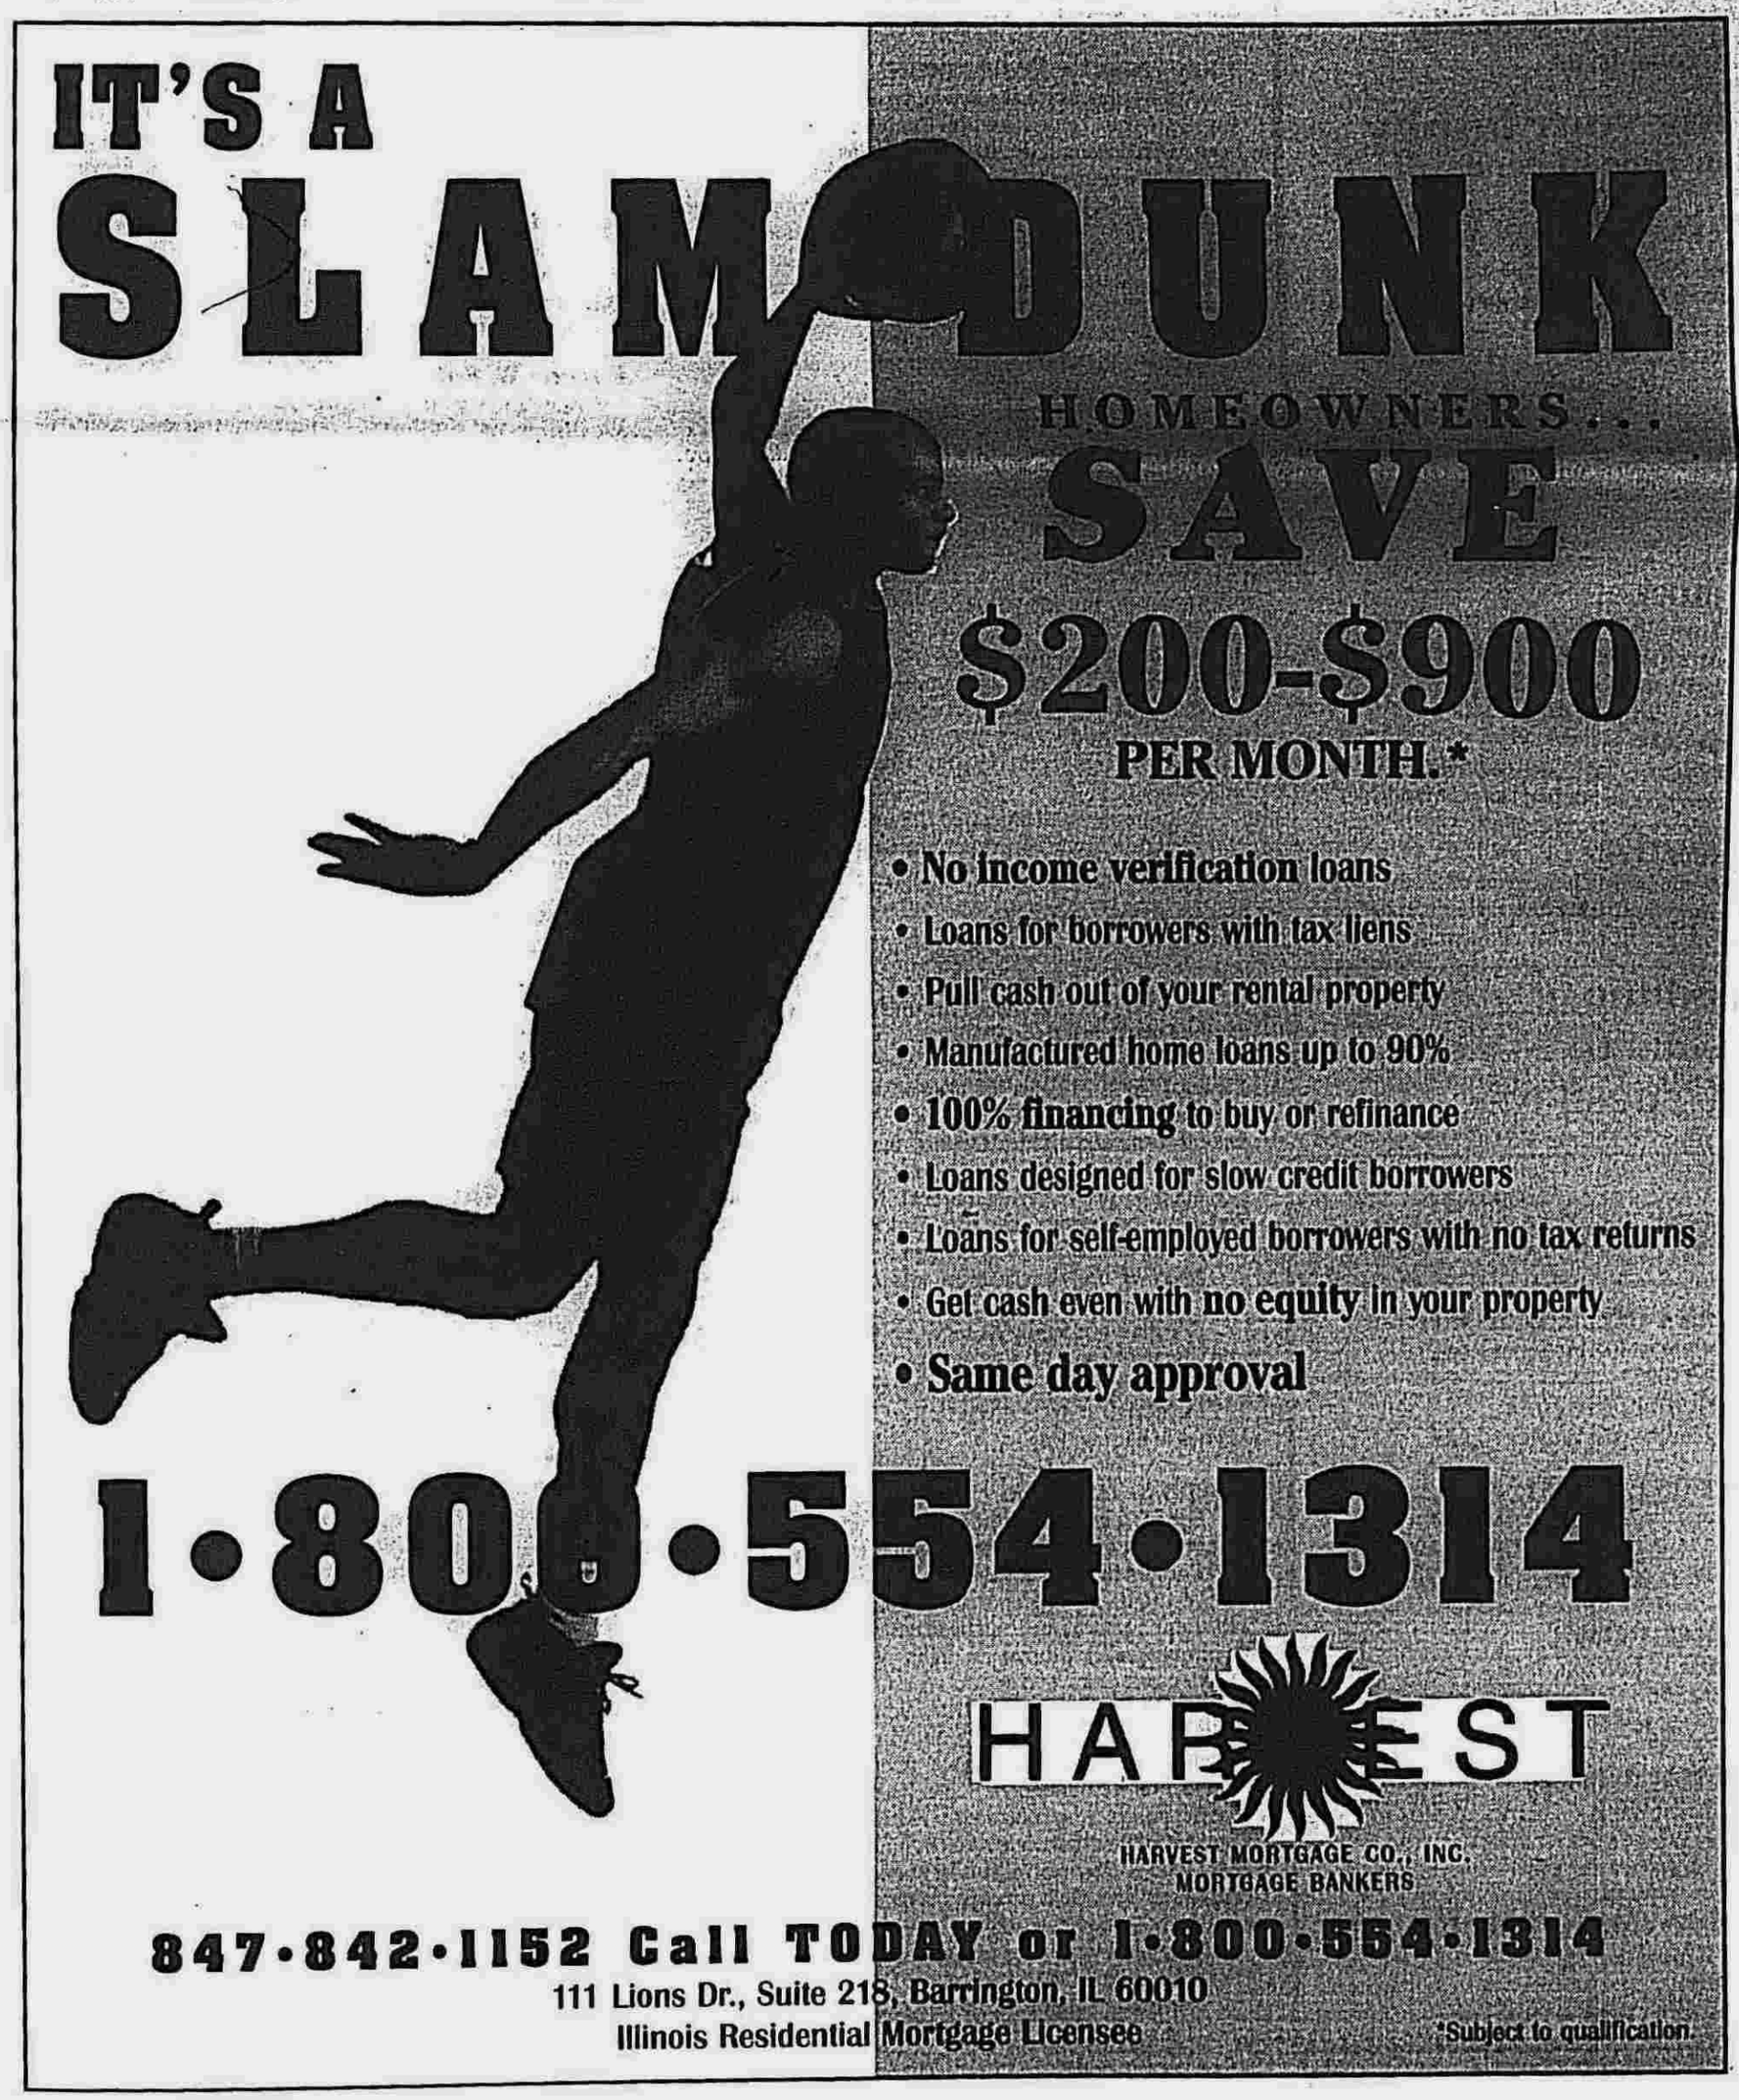

The newest Waukegan Savings and Loan employees are Desiree Martinez, Adam McDonald, Lisa DeJesus and Nichole Fagan. The four new tellers come from a diverse background but all have a few things in common, including backgrounds in customer service and a commitment to helping others.

Both Desiree Martinez and Adam McDonald have extensive experience in cash handling. Desiree previously worked at both Foot Action and Burger King while Adam was most recently a sales Associate at Carson Pirie Scott. both are residents of Waukegan, graduated from Waukegan High School and are continuing their education at the College of Lake County.

Lisa DeJesus was an Assistant Underwriter at Lake County Insurance before starting her new career at Waukegan Savings and Loan. The Waukegan High School graduate still lives in Waukegan with her husband Ali and 7-month old daughter. Completing the roster of new hires, Nichole Fagan joined Waukegan Savings and Loan from Osco Pharmacy where she worked as a licensed Pharmacy Technician. Nichole also graduated from Waukegan High School and still lives in the community.

"We're very happy to add Nichole, Lisa, Adam, and Desiree to our team," continued Stanulis. "Welcome aboard!"

For more information, contact Ted Stanulis at Waukegan Savings and Loan at 623-6400. Waukegan Savings and Loan SB has served the northeastern Illinois are since 1924 with two locations, 900 Tenth Street and 1324 Golf Road.

First National announces new Travel Club

First National Bank-Employee Owned with locations in Antioch and Gurnee will be introducing their new "Eagle 50 Travelers Club," a discounted group travel program that will be available to all Eagle 50 and Eagle 50+ checking account members.

A welcome reception will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 1 in the community room of the Antioch facility at 485 Lake St., for anyone interested in learning more about the club.

Eagle 50 Travelers will provide a combination of seasonal day trips as well as discounted vacation packages to places including California, Alaska, and the Caribbean. The club's first scheduled trip will be on Saturday, Oct. 10, to historic Fort Ouiatenon in Lafayette, Indiana for "Feast of the Hunters Moon," an authentic re-creation of the 18th Century gathering of French and Native Americans.

Anyone interested in attending the welcome reception should call Nancy Rentner at 838-2265.

TAYLOR: A few of my favorite things down the pathway of years,

And gets pats on the back as you pass,
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears,
If you cheated the Man in the glass.

Poem:

If you think you're beaten—you are.
If you think you dare not—you don't
If you'd like to win, but think you can't—
It's almost certain you won't.

If you think you'll lose—you're lost.
For out in the world we find—
Success begins with a person's will
It's all in your state of mind.

OBITUARIES

Still Is.

We're not a big impersonal corporation headquartered in a far distant city or even foreign country. We're a family. And, like you, we make decisions that suit our community... not necessarily someone else's. We think that makes a great difference in the care and service we offer the families who come to us.

Our Family serving your family to help you in your time of need.

PUBLIC NOTICE
ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP
INVITATION TO BID
1997 COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM
LAKESHORE AND LAKEVIEW DRIVE
STORM DRAINAGE IMPROVEMENTS

Separate sealed BIDS for the work consisting of providing all labor, materials, equipment and services necessary for Lakeshore and Lakeview Drive Storm Drainage Improvements per plans and specifications prepared by Frauenhoffer Engineering Associates, P.C., will be received by Antioch Township, until 10:00 A.M. (Local Time), September 21, 1998 and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

The work shall consist of the installation of pipe, underdrains, storm sewer, and appurtenant construction.

This project is being federally funded, in part, through the HUD program for Community Development Block Grants, therefor all federal labor standards provisions and equal employment opportunity provisions will be enforced. The successful contractor will be required to comply, to the greatest extent feasible, with all Section 3 regulations pertaining to opportunities for training and employment to lower income residents of the project area and to the provision that contracts for work in connection with the project be awarded to business concerns located in, or owned in substantial part by persons residing in the area of the project. Neither the County of Lake, nor HUD, will be a party to this invitation to Bid or any resulting contract.

The Antioch Township reserves the right to reject any and all bids and bidders and waive all technicalities. All proposals submitted shall be valid for a period of sixty (60) days.

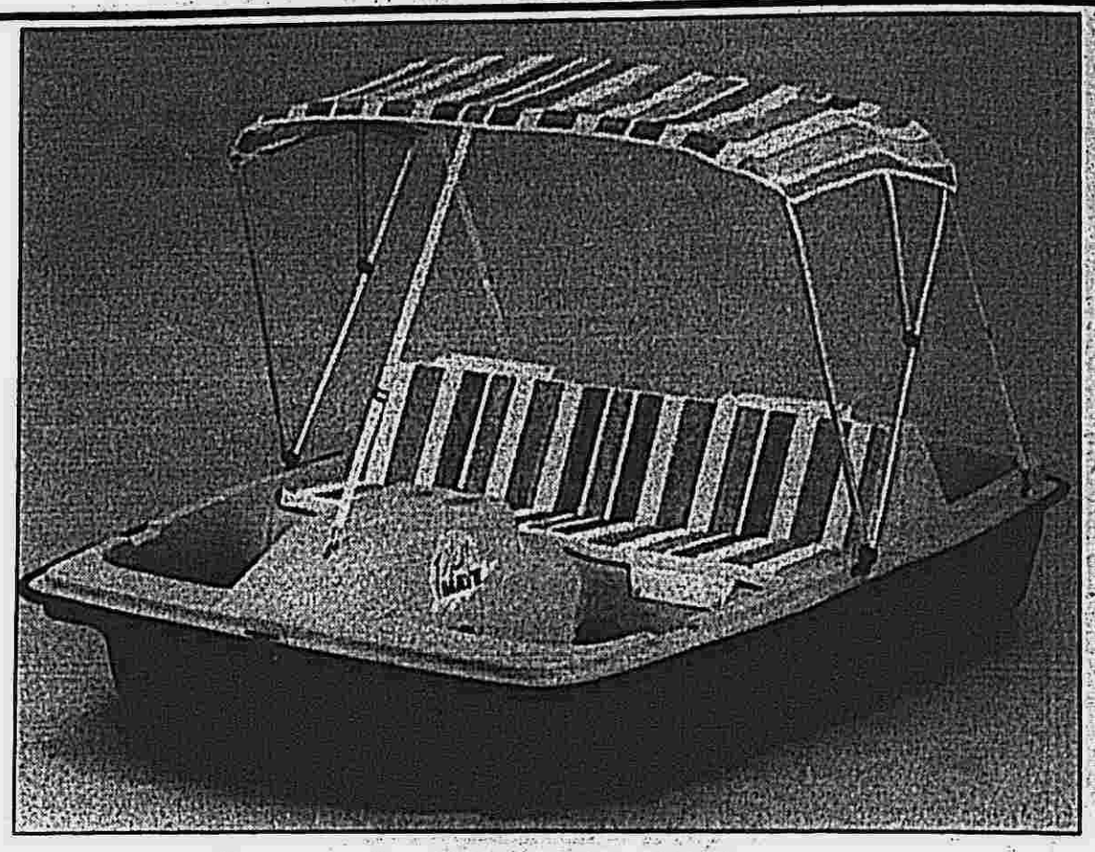

All CONTRACTORS will be required to comply with the Equal Employment Opportunity Clause of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission and the Wages of Employees on Public Works Act of the Illinois Revised Statutes.

Complete sets of the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS may be obtained at the Antioch Township Offices for a cost of $30.00 per set, non-refundable.

Each BID must be accompanied by a Bank Draft, BID Bond or Cashier's Check payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount of the BID.

By Order of the Antioch Township Supervisor

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT Holy Spirit You who helped me see everything and You who show me the way to reach my goal and my ideal, You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me. You who know my innermost thoughts and desires. I thank you for everything and confirm that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great my material desires may be. Thank You for Your love for me and my loved ones in Perpetual Glory Amen. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after the third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it might be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. S.N.

Brass rings summer's finale

Lakes Area Community Band combines intergenerational love of music to create songs of community

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The sounds of George M. Cohen and John Philips Sousa will herald the end of summer as the Lakes Area Community Band will present a final summer concert Sunday, Aug. 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the Williams Park Pavilion in Antioch. The park is behind the public library at 757 Main Street, north of the downtown business center on Route 83.

It will be an evening of music that includes George M. Cohen, Leroy Anderson, John Philip's Sousa, and even a Johann Strauss waltz. It is music people love to hear and the band loves to play.

"There is a little bit of something for everyone," said Steve Porch, the musical director for the band.

Lawn chairs, picnic baskets, blankets on the lawn and friends can make it an even more special evening, according to those who have organized the event.

Lakes Area Community Band is an old band with a new attitude and entertainment credentials that extend around the world and back to Buckingham Palace. It is a band that presented an Independence Day concert described by the audience as sensational.

It is a band with buzz.

One element that has created excitement is the presence of their professional conductor who creates a "Wow!" experience for the audience.

Band leader and conductor Steve Porch honed his musical skills with Her Majesty's Band of the Irish Guards in London, England and his entertainment skills on tours with Cunard Line. The combination gives him a chance to create musical performances with people who love to play their instruments and to present it so listeners have a wonderful experience.

"My whole premise for the community band is fun and entertainment," he said. He wants the band to enjoy the music they play, and he wants music an audience enjoys.

"The July 3 concert was the first real, major event," Porch said. "The band sounded good, the choir sounded fabulous."

"(Steve) has a great rapport with the audience," said Bob Schmelzer, president of the band's board of directors. "He just wowed the audience on the 3rd of July."

"He allows (the audience) to go away happy and wanting more," he said. "He's a natural born entertainer."

Schmelzer traces the excitement to the fact that Porch was a principal piano player for the Royal

Port Clinton Art Festival features 250 artists

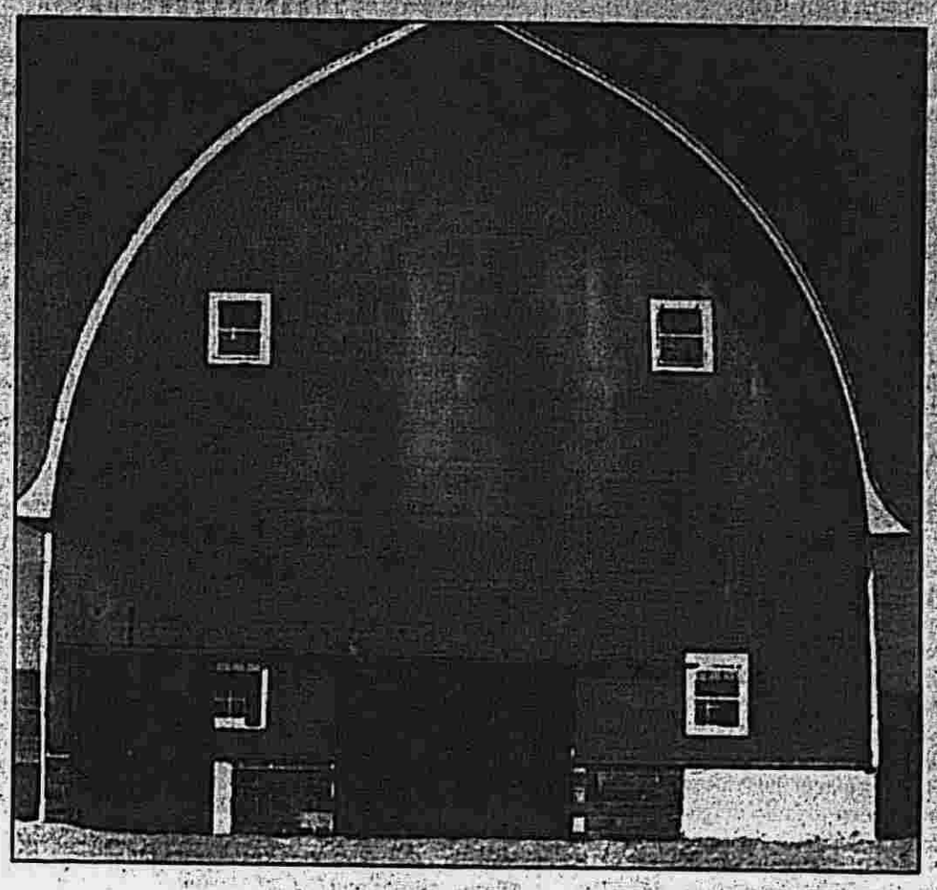

CHECK IT OUT!

The Pioneer Press Port Clinton Art Festival, Saturday, Aug. 29 and Sunday, Aug. 30, is a professionally juried all-media art festival, featuring the original works of 250 artists from 44 states and South America. Exhibits will include paintings, lithographs, watercolor, photography, sculpture, glass, wood, ceramics, jewelry, mixed media and fiber art. A portion of festival proceeds will be donated to the Highland Park Hospital's Breast Cancer Center.

Admission is free to the public. Musical entertainment from Cirrus Falcon, a KidzArt Festival, children's activities and great food make this a must-attend summer event! Parking is free to the public in adjacent railroad commuter lots and in the city parking facility located under Port Clinton Square. The festival is an open access event.

The festival runs from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days, rain or shine, and is located at Port Clinton Square in Highland Park, Central Avenue, 1st and 2nd Streets. An estimated 100,000 art enthusiasts from all over the Chicagoland area will attend the two-day event.

Sponsors of the event include: Pioneer Press, WFMT Radio, LaSalle Bank, Sprint Yellow Pages, Mesirow Financial, WNUA Radio, KNAUZ Cadillac, First Midwest Bank, First Chicago, Pepsi-Cola, WBBM Radio, TCI, Port Clinton Sq., Corner Bakery, and BFI.

THEATRE

An Ode to Judy Blume

The Annoyance Theatre is proud to announce the opening of the newest production of 'What Every Girl Should Know...An Ode to Judy Blume', directed by Susan Messing. 'What Every Girl Should Know..An Ode to Judy Blume' is a satirical tribute that intertwines three of Judy Blume's most loved classics: 'Are You There, God?' It's me...Margaret, 'Deenie' and 'Forever', celebrating the angst and horror of puberty, crooked spines and first loves. The cast of 'What Every Girl Should Know'... consists of 15 gifted comedic actors that have been brought together from stages all over Chicago. Performances are through Nov. 6, Fridays at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $10. For more information, call Jonathan Browning at The Annoyance Theatre 3747 North Clark Street, (773) 929-6200 www.annoyance.com.

Theatre auditions

The Waukegan Community Players Children's Theatrical Group will hold auditions for their Christmas production of "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever" by Barbara Robinson. Auditions will be held at the Lilac Cottage in Waukegan on Saturday, Aug. 29 from 1 to 3 p.m. and Aug. 30 from 1 to 3 p.m. No appointments—auditions will be held on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Roles for two men, six women, nine girls and eight boys are sought. These are all speaking roles and require some singing. No pay. Rehearsals will be held in Waukegan and show dates are Dec. 3, 4 & 5 during the day. For directions or more information, call 356-1445 or 360-1336.

'The Meeting'

Bowen Park Theatre Company will hold auditions for Jeff Stetson's play 'The Meeting' on Dec. 5 and 6 from 1-4 p.m. at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., just off N. Sheridan Rd., in Waukegan. Call backs are scheduled from Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. 'The Meeting' will be directed by guest director Debrah Neal.

Needed are three black male actors to portray Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, and Rashad, Malcolm X's bodyguard. Production dates are Feb. 5, 6, 12, 13 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 7 and 14 at 3 p.m. There is a possibility of an additional run out performance.

'The Meeting' is about a fictitious meeting between the two great civil rights activists, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Malcolm X. It is poignant, witty, sometimes humorous, and catches the spirits of these two historic figures. Because the length of the play is just over one hour, additional materials will be used by the actors before the actual play.

KIDS EVENTS

'The Invisible Dragon'

The Cultural Arts Division of the Waukegan Park Dist. announces the Kids Play production of 'The Invisible Dragon' on Oct. 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Bowen Park, Waukegan. Written by Patricia Clapp and directed by Margaret Schultz, this delightful musical tells of a kingdom where all is happy, that is everyone except the Princess. A Prince, on his quest to find a dragon, meets the Princess and the King learns that the Princess is always gloomy because she is missing one important thing...love. The King decides to keep the Prince around the kingdom by creating an invisible dragon for the Prince to pursue. The play ends happily with the joining of the Prince and Princess in marriage. Reservations are necessary and can be made by calling the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4741. Tickets are $4.00 a person. For more information, please contact Rik Covalinski, Performance Supervisor at 360-4741 at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Bowen Park, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Waukegan 60087.

Family fun-line

Chicago-area residents and visitors can now dial the new Free Family Fun Line to find quality activities and events available free-of-charge to the public, provided by TicketLine Ltd.

The Free Family Fun Line, which can be reached 24 hours a day by calling (312) TICKETS, is the only phone line that exclusively lists free Chicago-area activities with appeal for all members of the family. Most are educational or cultural in nature. The listings are changed daily and include the Art Institute of Chicago, the Field Museum of Natural History, the Museum of Science and Industry, the Chicago Historical Society, the John G. Shedd Aquarium, the Du Sable Museum of African American History, the Spertus Museum, the Terra Museum of American Art and other institutions, all of which offer free admission on certain days. The call to the Free Family Fun Line also is free (except for normal toll charges to downtown Chicago).

TicketLine also offers the Ticket Information Line, the "inside line" for events, schedules and ticket availability. The Ticket Information Line features a comprehensive listing of concerts, theatre, sporting events and other entertainment in the Chicago area.

Jazzin' at the Shedd

Summer in Chicago. A time to forget the snow, ice and sleet of winters past and enjoy the warmth of summer evenings. A time for barbecues, baseball games, bike rides and at Shedd Aquarium—jazz and seahorses!

Visit Shedd Aquarium every Thursday night this summer for "Jazzin' at the Shedd." Now in its fourth season, Jazzin' keeps Shedd Aquarium open on Thursday nights until 10 p.m. See the dolphins, whales and penguins in the Oceanarium.

Enjoy the pasta, seafood or grill items available for dinner in Soundings restaurant, and visit with the 8,000 inhabitants of the Aquarium or just relax as live jazz bands perform against a spectacular backdrop of Chicago's skyline. Seahorse Symphony not only displays the wonder and beauty of seahorses, but the entire symphony of animals they're related to: cornetfish, trumpetfish, pipefish, seadragons and ghostfish.

Jazzin' runs through Sept. 24. The Oceanarium and Seahorse Symphony close at 8 p.m., and admission is $6 for adults, $5 for children (ages 3-11) and seniors. Aquarium admission is free on Thursdays. For more information, call (312) 939-2438.

Learn, dream, explore!

Tammy sang the song, but Hillary could write the book

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

In the late Tammy Wynette's most famous song, she sang, "Sometimes it's hard to be a woman..."

I certainly can't argue with that. But if you ask me, no one knows that better these days than Hillary Clinton.

Which is why I can't understand how, immediately after President Clinton's recent "confession speech" about his relationship with Monica Lewinsky, his approval ratings actually shot up. Who did they poll - members of "Adulterers Anonymous?" If anyone's approval ratings should be skyrocketing, it should be Hillary's, not the President's. I can't think of a woman in recent memory who has endured the humiliation of more repeated public airings of her husband's dirty laundry than our First Lady.

And when I say "dirty laundry," some of it's not even figurative - it's literal (which is why I will never think of a "stained blue dress" in the same way, ever again)! And yet, she has remained publicly loyal and supportive of the President and conducted herself with amazing dignity.

To coin a current popular phrase: "The girl's got it goin' on!"

I very much doubt that I would be able to conduct myself with such grace under the same circumstances. I'd be much more inclined to use my power as First Lady to push a new law through Congress, specifically concerning adultery and some new and fun ways to use "the guillotine" as punishment.

"Sorry, dear ... this is going to hurt you a lot more than it will me...but I feel your pain."

Of course, that's just me. And it's probably the reason I don't hold any public office, other than "Chief Cook and Bottlewasher."

It might also be why my husband doesn't sharpen our knives very often.

But getting back to Hillary, if she is hurting, which I can't see how she could not be, she has the strength of character to never let it show. How else do you explain her vehement support of her husband when questioned publicly? Or pictures of she and Bill holding hands, despite this whole mess?

Not that I wouldn't blame her if she actually had one of those joke buzzers in her hand, and as they walk she's zapping him with it, every few steps. Although if I were her, I might want to forget the hand buzzer and buy him one of those electric shock collars people use on dogs who can't seem to behave.

But the point is, she's willing to keep up appearances in order to maintain her dignity and try to salvage his. Or, as Tammy sang,

"But if you love him,
be proud of him,
Cause after all...he's just a man."

He sure is, and we all know far more details about that than we ever wanted to. Not that being a man is any excuse. Maybe "he's just a powerful politician" might be a better excuse. I'd really like to see how well other powerful male members of our government, Democrat or Republican, would do under the same sort of sleazy scrutiny. Personally, I don't think Kenneth Starr has enough years left in his lifespan to interview that large of a bimbo brigade.

On the other hand, Hillary is not just a woman. She's a real lady, the First Lady, and has remained one throughout this nationally embarrassing excuse for an investigation.

Having said that, I would like to go on record as being the first to suggest that Hillary Clinton be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor - for valor and dignity in the face of a cheatin' husband, a certain White House intern who never heard the words "dry cleaners," a nosy public, relentless press ("Crisis in the Oval Office...the Closet...Under the Desk...) and a politically-motivated legal system that has turned the Clintons' private life into a 24-hour, tacky talk show.

And just to be fair, I think the men in this mess should get a little something, too (although, I think at least one of them has been getting a little something far too often).

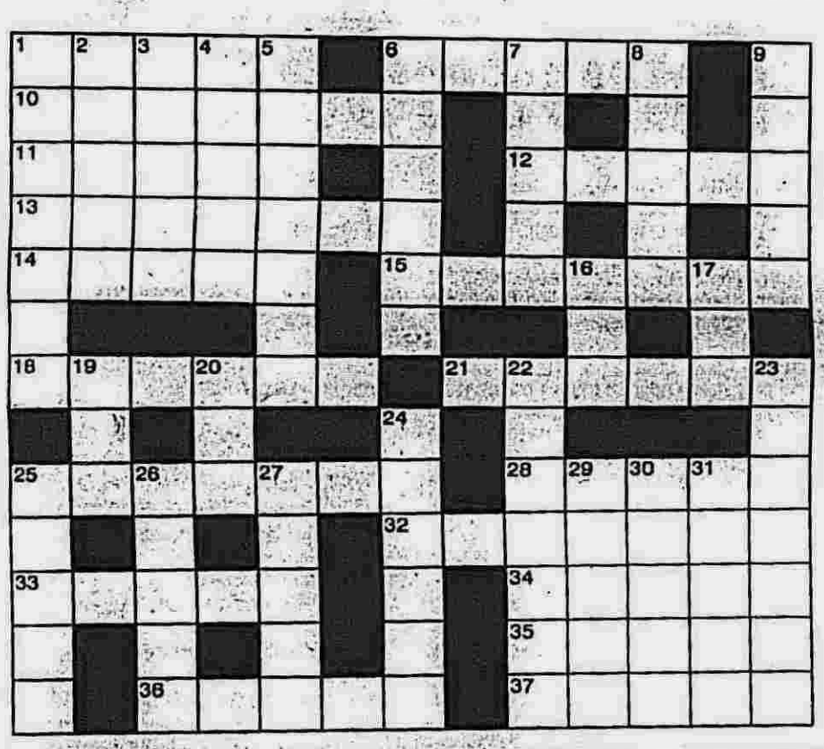

To President Clinton, some piped-in music by Hank Williams for his Oval Office. ("Your cheatin' heart...will tell on you.")

And for Kenneth Starr? That's easy - a pink slip, 25 cents and a tape of another well-known country song:

"Here's A Quarter - Call Someone Who Cares."

WORLD HERITAGE IS A PUBLIC BENEFIT, NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION

Want An Adventure That's Really Out Of This World?

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

You may have to wait up to five years, and it's going to cost about what you paid for your house, but you can buy a ticket for a flight to outer space!

This is no "Buck Rogers" fantasy. (Anyone under 50 remember Buck Rogers? Maybe Flash Gordon. How about Captain Video?)

Anyhow, Space Adventures Inc., a company made up of four real astronauts and a team of scientists, is offering passengers a chance to travel 62 miles above the earth into the star-filled blackness of outer space. During some of the one-hour flight you'll float weightlessly while you view the curvature of the earth. Cost of a ticket will be around $80,000 and yes, you can get them from your travel agent. (Sorry, no super-saver fares available).

A little pricey for you? Don't want to wait 5 years? Next year for less than $12,000, plus airfare to Moscow, Space Adventures will fly to the edge of space in the world's fastest military jet, the Russian MiG-25. (A dividend of the end of the Cold War). At an altitude of almost 20 miles, you'll have no problem seeing the earth's curvature.

For less than half that price, another former U.S. astronaut will take you up in a Russian IL-76 MDK, which was used by the Russian Space Agency to prepare cosmonauts for space travel. No need to "stay in your seats and keep your seat belt fastened." In fact, during about 10 minutes of the flight, you'll fly, roll and spin weightlessly throughout the cabin! Ron Howard took this flight as preparation for directing the movie "Apollo 13." He described it as "exhilarating beyond anything I've ever done."

If you would rather confine your space adventure to this planet, and also keep the cost of your fun under $1000, then consider Terrestrial Tours' offer of a chance to stay at a space camp in Houston, Washington or even Moscow, and train as an astronaut. You'll actually build and launch your own 10-foot-high rocket.

Even if your vacation plans are "out of this world," your travel agent is here to help.

'Blade' slashes at vamp myth, legend

movie review

Lee Filas

Blade

Rated R

Starring
Wesley Snipes
Stephen Dorff
Kris Kristofferson
Traci Lords

The theme of "Blade" sets itself early on, as a meat packing company becomes the stage of a nightclub full of vampires, complete with blood raining from the ceiling in a sprinkler scene that is enough to make the strongest stomach turn.

"Blade," based on the comic book hero from Marvel Comics, brings his half-vampire/half-human form to the big screen as Wesley Snipes plays a man who was born while his mother was turned into a vampire, giving him the same powers of a vampire without all the drawbacks.

For vampire movie buffs like myself, this movie was everything it was hyped to be. It combined a few of the well known legends and myths of vampires, did away with the old wives tales and adapted the vampire legend for the '90s.

Crosses have no effect on vampires, silver swords and vampire killing serum is the main defense for any vampire slayer, while garlic and sunlight is still the natural way to destroy a creature of the night.

Snipes, playing the namesake of the film, was impressive. He managed to keep the eerie enforcer-type character, while tossing in a few quick quips that make Snipes the action star he is today.

Stephen Dorff, playing the renegade vampire Deacon Frost, played the perfect bad guy. His intensely lunatic aspirations made him worthy of being a leader for future generations of vampires, claiming that people are the food of vampires, nothing more.

Other characters in the movie include Kris Kristofferson playing Whistler, Blade's weaponsmith and close friend, N'Bushe Wright as Karen, a doctor turned vampire looking for a cure, with Kevin Patrick Walls and Traci Lords as Frost's henchmen.

The movie, directed by Stephen Norrington, easily earns the "R" rating as blood flows as much as water did in the movie "Waterworld." The action sequences and fight scenes are fast and furious, always climaxing in a blood shower of some sort.

With the addition of computer graphics, the film gave Norrington the chance to create—you guessed it—more blood. In memorable scenes, vampires explode with the ebola virus, melting creatures of the night from the inside while turning the vampires into giant puddles of....well, you get the idea.

All in all, for those people with a huge appetite for vampires, this is a must-see movie, hence the four-and-one-half popcorn box rating.

A warning before viewing: meals should be well digested before entering the theater, and stay away from the red licorice at the candy counter.

Wesley Snipes is a half-vampire, half-human character in "Blade," a movie based on the Marvel comic book hero.

HOROSCOPE

Aries – March 21/April 20
Don't get carried away early in the week. There's too much going on to lose your head. An outburst only will make things more hectic. An old friend has a proposition for you. Look at everything that is involved before making a decision. Something just isn't right with this deal.

Taurus – April 21/May 21
Your persistence pays off when it comes to romance this week, Taurus. That special someone finally says yes. He or she just needed to see how serious you were. Don't be cavalier now. Wine and dine him or her, and show your true feelings. A loved one needs your help with a family matter. Be supportive.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
Your professional life keeps you on your toes during the middle of the week. A lot of demands are placed on you. Stay focused and organized — that is your key to success. A close friend wants your input on an important decision that he or she has to make. Be honest. The truth is needed.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
Don't let your desire for more let you give up all that you already have, Cancer. Open your eyes to what's in front of you. You've been taking those closest to you for granted. Show them how much you really care. A business associate asks for help later in the week. Do what you can, but don't fall behind in your own tasks.

Leo – July 23/August 23
Don't be overcome by the call of the wild, Leo. There's a lot of work to be done this week. You face demands in both your professional life and personal life. Set your priorities early in the week, and you'll get things accomplished by Friday — leaving you plenty of time to enjoy the weekend.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
Your orderly nature serves you well early in the week, Virgo. By keeping things organized, you make a lot of progress. Don't forget to delegate some of your less-important tasks. You have every right to do so. A friend introduces you to an interesting person. Be yourself, and you're sure to make a good impression.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
You're flying high this week. Your efforts are being rewarded in the work place, and your personal life is going well. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Say yes — you know that is what you want too.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
You have a lot of decisions to make, Scorpio. Examine all of your options carefully. Don't be too hasty. Remember, the repercussions won't just affect you; those closest to you are involved also. A business associate wants to get to know you better. Don't get in over your head.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21
Your bravery wins you accolades early in the week. You stand up to an adversary at work and make a bad situation better for everyone. The higher-ups are impressed with your efforts. That special someone wants to call it quits. Don't give up without a fight. He or she means too much to you.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
Don't be shy when it comes to meeting an important person this week. Impress him or her with your knowledge and abilities. He or she is sure to take an interest in you. Opportunity is knocking. A loved one needs romantic advice. Don't venture into unknown territory. Tell him or her that you just don't know what to say.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
Telling a lie gets you into a lot of trouble late in the week. You spend several days trying to get things back on track. Remember, honesty is the best policy. A close friend has a surprise for you. Enjoy the suspense, and let yourself go. You haven't been able to relax in a long time.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
The stress of the last few days finally is gone, Pisces. You can relax and enjoy yourself. Take time to pamper yourself — you deserve it. An acquaintance has an interesting question for you. Be honest. Leo plays a key role on Friday.

The winding down of summer color

GARDEN JOURNAL

Lydia Huff

The start of a new school year is beginning this week, and that is a sure sign that fall is right around the corner. It is time to start cleaning up the garden beds and to re-evaluate the overall garden scheme. It is safe to transplant and divide perennials up to the last week of September. The weather is not too cold and the plants will have time to get acclimated and establish a strong, healthy root system.

I have begun clearing my perennial beds, many of the flowers are looking quite "tired" about now. They have hit their peak and are dying back. I like to cut all the spent plants way down—it makes the plants stronger.

Many gardeners fill in empty spaces with nursery grown blooming plants (violas, chrysanthemums). I don't do much of this. I replace scraggly annuals in pots with fall mums to dress up my deck and front porch.

I do not mind empty spaces in the garden, it reminds me of the natural cycle of the garden. Remember to mulch your beds once the temps get cold enough. You can lightly mulch them now, to keep down those weeds.

Keeping up with your weeding, getting rid of weeds before they come to seedheads greatly reduces their appearance in the spring.

Harvest your herbs now—this is when they are quite overgrown. Hang bundles of herbs upside down in a warm, airy place to dry. I tie them with kite string and when dry enough—crumble them and store them in air tight containers. I have not had much success in digging annual herbs and repotting them for the inside. Rather, I just start them in an inside window box from seed. They do quite well in my sunny kitchen window.

If you have been growing geraniums and plan to keep them over the winter, you can begin preparing them now for the move inside. You need to supply them with plenty of sun, they like to be close to the windowpane. They can bloom all winter long with the right light. Before bringing geraniums inside trim them back severely and give them a good dose of fertilizer. The growth they do over the winter, will have to be trimmed back when you place them back outdoors for the summer, but at that time fertilize sparingly.

Going to the bother of wintering geraniums is important if you have one whose color is rare and you especially like it. You cannot always find odd colors each year. I am saving two of mine this year that are quite unusual. I don't always have success with them blooming all winter but they do great when planted back in the garden the following season. I think that is natures way of giving them the rest they need.

Once the weather has cooled some, start moving your perennials. I have quite a few in dire need of transplanting. Make sure you do not transplant on a hot day. After transplanting cut them way down, and water well.

The garden centers usually begin to get a fresh supply of fall foliage and blooms like gloxinia—go take a look before they are all picked over. Enjoy. Until next time, peace.

Amateur gardeners host 38th Flower, Garden Show

Amateur gardeners can enter their home grown flowers and vegetables in the 38th Annual Flower and Garden Show hosted by the Gardeners of Central Lake County on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 29 and 30, at the Civic Center in Libertyville.

"Nearly any type of flower or vegetable that someone is growing in his or her backyard is a potential winner," said Betty Mekemson Chan, secretary of the Gardeners of Central Lake County. "You need not be an expert to enter. If you have something that looks good to you, bring it in for the show."

House plants and terrariums are also welcome entries. The show has categories for both foliage and blooming container plants. You may enter that hanging basket or large container plant which you have on your porch. "Entering is really easy," said Susan Plasz, a club member. "You don't have to have a scientific name for your plant, common names are fine and if you don't know the name, club members will help you. We all help each other."

Entries will be accepted on Friday evening, Aug. 28, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and Saturday morning, Aug. 29, from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Libertyville Civic Center, 135 Church Street, one block west of Milwaukee Avenue (Route 21). After all of the ribbons have been awarded, the show will open to the entrants and the general public on Saturday, Aug. 29, from 2 to 5 p.m., and on Sunday, Aug. 30 from 1 to 4 p.m. Awards will be given at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 30.

The Gardeners of Central Lake County is a group of nearly 60 women and men, from Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills and other communities. All the members share a love of gardening. "We have members with a wide variety of interests," said Plasz. "My husband Andy specializes in roses and Jerry Cleland specializes in orchids." Another member, Phyllis Mohler, teaches classes on perennials and bulbs for the Mundelein High School Adult Education Program. Phyllis also has a terrific perennial garden. Many of the members, including master gardener John Mansnerus, have wonderful vegetable gardens.

BANK & FINANCE

Small businesses can 'Score' big by managing finances

With more than 23 million small business owners in America and 30 percent of the U.S. population considering starting a business at any given time, competition is fierce. Entrepreneurs can get a jump on the competition by having a financial management plan in place to maximize profits and minimize costs.

According to the SCORE Association (Service Corps of Retired Executives), a nonprofit organization dedicated to the formation, growth and success of small business, entrepreneurs often overlook two important areas: Financial planning and cash flow. To help small businesses succeed, SCORE and Visa U.S.A., SCORE's financial management partner, have compiled a list of 10 basic financial management partner, have complied a list of 10 basic financial management tips:

1. Research your industry and identify your market size. By determining the cost of entry into your field, you can develop a more accurate budget for operating your business.

2. Prepare a business plan. The business plan is a written description of what you want to do and will help you determine what funds you need to operate. It should include a financial plan, a marketing plan, and how you are going to sell your product or service.

3. Seek professional advice. Consultants can help you shape your overall picture. Moore than 12,000 SCORE counselors nation wide can review your business plan, cash flow projections and supporting documentation prior to applying for commercial loans or Small Business Administration guaranteed loans— all free of charge.

4. Establish your personal credit history. Funding sources often look at your personal credit and repayment habits when considering a loan for your business, so use your personal credit cards responsibly. Also, consider using the Visa Business card to separate business and personal expenses. The card offers a reserve of credit that can be paid off in full or revolved, helping you gain better control over your available capital.

5. Identify all sources of financial assistance. When seeking either short-term or long-term capital all possible sources for funds, including personal loans from family and friends, bank lines of credit, liquidation of assets, and credit cards.

6. Set up an accounting system. Take advantage of the off-the-shelf accounting software that is currently available. This software can help you complete your financial projections and keep track of your income statement, balance sheet and cash flow projections. Top programs to consider include: Microsoft Small Business Financial Manager '97 for Microsoft Excel; Quicken QuickBooks Pro with time tracking, estimating and job costing; and Peachtree Complete Accounting Plus— with time and billing features.

7. Improve your cash flow. A major component of cash flow is understanding how and when you pay yourself and determining when your business will be paid for its products or services. If you plan on invoicing customers, explore setting up accounts receivable financing to improve your cash flow.

8. Calculate a break-even chart. This is essential if you are in a start-up situation, since it will help identify and establish a realistic time frame to reference as your business gets underway.

9. Consider the tax impact on your bottom line. Taxes are a given expense that must be accounted for when developing a financial plan. Also, remember your withholding-tax payments.

10. Study production output and office efficiency. To ensure that your business is operating at maximum profitability, periodically review the efficiency of the back room and the front office. Maintain accurate records and issue timely financial reports, so you will have current information at your fingertips.

As SCORE's "Small Business Financial Management Partner," Visa U.S.A is working with SCORE chapters nation wide to provide financial management workshops and educational materials. For additional financial management tips or to participate in an upcoming survey of small business owners, visit the visa Small Business Web site at http://www.visa.com/smallbiz and the national SCORE Web site at http://www.score.org. To locate your local SCORE chapter, call 1-800-634-0245.

Some of the best business advice is free

Whether you are starting a new business or supervising a growing one, the top concern facing entrepreneurs is how to manage your company's finances. Small business owners frequently struggle with how to maximize profits and minimize costs in the face of mounting competition. While meeting with a consultant is an excellent way to shape your overall financial picture, many entrepreneurs often cannot spare funds to hire such expertise. Following are several free resources that small business owners can use to keep their finances running as smoothly as their businesses.

Counseling you can count on — The SCORE Association (Service Corps of Retired Executives), a nonprofit organization dedicated to the formation, growth and success of small business, offers free business planning, marketing advice and financial management information to entrepreneurs at 389 chapters nationwide. With a pool of more than 12,000 SCORE counselors, you will be matched with a counselor who has related experience in your industry.

Set your sights on the World Wide Web — A world of information on how to manage a business is available to entrepreneurs for free on the Internet. As "Small Business Financial Management Partners," SCORE and Visa U.S.A. have partnered to bring financial management resources to the small business community online. Entrepreneurs can log onto the Visa Small Business site at www.visa.com/smallbiz/ where they can access a monthly newsletter that covers timely small business issues and offers tips on how to help small businesses succeed. In addition, entrepreneurs can participate in a monthly survey on key small business concerns.

Workbooks work for you — Take advantage of educational materials that provide a detailed look at the financial planning issues facing small business. The free two-part workbook series developed by Visa U.S.A. and SCORE titled, "How to Secure Financing" and "How to Choose the Best Bank for Your Business" is available at all 389 SCORE chapters nationwide. To order your free workbooks or to locate your local SCORE chapter, call 1-800-634-0245.

Kids 'treasure chest' donated to Good Shepherd

There needs to be more of a focus on our children, "that's our future," Arthur L. Ostrowski, M.D., a physician on staff at Good Shepherd Hospital, stated. Many children need to be treated in outpatient care for lengthy procedures such as transfusions and dialysis. Any kind of therapy like this can create much anxiety to children and Good Shepherd would like to try to make their experience as pleasurable as possible. Dr. Ostrowski worked with the Bear Necessities Pediatric Cancer Foundation to donate a "Treasure Chest" that will hold going-home presents for the children, as well as a collection of videos to entertain the pediatric patients. A plaque with the inscription, "In Memory of Janina Ostrowski—A Teacher Who Loved Children—Dr. A.L. Ostrowski and Family" will be placed on the chest.

"My mother was a grade school teacher and always loved children," said Dr. Ostrowski. "She was a patient at Good Shepherd Hospital on a number of occasions and always received excellent care. I believe a memorial gift to Good Shepherd in her name is wonderfully appropriate. All the more so as it directly helps our smallest patients."

Kathleen Casey, founder of Bear Necessities, was very enthusiastic with the idea of bringing the "treasure chest" to Good Shepherd Hospital. She has had both of her children treated at Good Shepherd's outpatient center on a number of occasions. "The hospital means a great deal to me," Casey said, "I live in the community and I have been eager to get something started here."

Donna Pacholski, R.N., on staff in Ambulatory Care at Good Shepherd Hospital said, "The treasure chest is a great use for the children who come into outpatient care, some children have a hard time with blood draws and the toys divert the focus of the pain, also the videos are entertainment for the children that have to stay for hours at a time."

Dr. Ostrowski, a physician on staff at Good Shepherd Hospital, teamed up with Kathleen Casey, founder of Bear Necessities, to donate a treasure chest in memory of his mother, Janine Ostrowski. The chest will be filled with going-home presents as well as a collection of videos to entertain the pediatric patients treated in the outpatient center. Shown in front from left enjoying the toys are Andrew Guild and Alec Guild; both are frequent pediatric patients at Good Shepherd Hospital. Back, from left, are Dr. Ostrowski, Donna Pacholski, R.N.; Dr. Kiernan; William Mahoney, member of Development Council and Advocate Charitable Foundation Board; and Kathleen Casey, founder of Bear Necessities.—Submitted photo

The Bear Necessities Pediatric Cancer Foundation has committed to keeping the treasure chest filled with toys. Bear Necessities has also provided significant philanthropic support to Lutheran General Children's Hospital and Hope Children's Hospital.

Good Shepherd Hospital, located north of Barrington on Highway 22, is a 154-bed health care facility with over 400 physicians, representing 35 medical specialties. The hospital is part of Advocate Health Care, one of the Chicago area's largest health care organizations.

Team up with AHA to trample heart disease, stroke

Lake County residents will help the American Heart Association trample cardiovascular disease—the Chicago area's number one killer—at the 1998 Omron Northeast Lake County and Central Lake County American Heart Walks on Sunday, Sept. 20. Registration for both three-mile courses will begin at 8 a.m. The Northeast Lake County event will take place at Van Patten Woods, Route 173, east of Route 41 in Wadsworth. The Central Lake County walk will step off at the Old School Forest Preserve, St. Mary's Rd.

A non-competitive event, the American Heart Walk will feature participants of all ages and will include families and friends who have formed teams to walk in memory of loved ones lost to cardiovascular disease. Red caps with the slogan, "Fighting Back" will don the heads of victorious walkers who have survived a stroke, heart attack or heart surgery.

More than 1,000 communities nationwide will host American Heart Walks this fall. The Omron Northeast Lake County and Central Lake County American Heart Walks are two of 16 walks taking place throughout metropolitan Chicago the weekend of Sept. 18-20, which hope to raise a combined total of $1.4 million for AHA heart and stroke research, community programs and education.

In the Chicago area, Omron is the title sponsor of the event; gold sponsors include Edward Hospital and Edward Cardiovascular Institute, Loyola University Health System, Akzo Nobel, Northwest Community Health System and Rush Heart Institute; official water sponsor Dell' Alpe Finer Foods; media sponsors include ABC 7 Chicago, Daily Herald and WTMX-FM.

Although each American Heart Walk participant is walking for a very serious health issue, the event promises to be entertaining and enjoyable with heart-healthy snacks, fruit and beverages, warm-up and cool-down exercises, free blood pressure screenings and mini-heart health fair.

Depending on the dollar amount raised by each walker, participants will receive thank you gifts including AHA tee-shirts, sport bottles, sweatshirts and denim jackets.

For more information on the 1998 Omron American Heart Walk or to organize a company team, call the American Heart Association at (312) 346-4675.

The American Heart Association spend more than $266 million during fiscal year 1996-97 on research support, public and professional education and community programs. With more than four million volunteers, the AHA is the largest voluntary health organization fighting heart disease, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases, which annually kills more than 960,000 Americans.

Futuristic dental procedures already being used

Cutting edge and high-tech gadgetry will dramatically change the way dental care is delivered in the next century, say dental researchers.

"Dental offices already are becoming the scene of many new technologies that permit more complex and improved dental treatments," says Trucia Drummond, DDS, a general dentist who practices in Chicago's Loop. "Dentists love new gadgets—anything that makes treatment easier for our patients."

Drummond says intra-oral cameras are a classic example how technology can improve dental care. "A small wand with a miniature video camera is inserted into the patient's mouth, where it transmits a signal to a television monitor next to the dental chair," she says.

She lists some other advances that are on their way.

• Lasers: Already used for some soft tissue applications such as removing lesions, and for tooth whitening purposes, many dentists feel they will used to zap tooth decay, precluding the need for tooth restorations or fillings.

• Digital radiography: This technology uses a tiny intra-oral sensor that replaces conventional X-ray film, sending images by wireless methods directly to a computer screen.

• Kinetic cavity preparation: Also called "air-abrasive technology," this procedure occurs when tiny aluminum particles are carried by a stream of air, spraying away decay without the sound of a drill, vibrations or local anesthetic.

• Electronic dental anesthesia: By attaching electrodes in the mouth, the dentist can use electric pulses to alleviate nerve sensation.

• Bonding and adhesives: These materials allow the tooth and veneers, for example, a better fit, resulting in minimal drilling, greater strength, tighter seals, and more natural color blending with the tooth.

• Dental implants: Now there are better ways of fastening dentures or a single tooth. Some implants stimulate bone to attach to the implant post.

• Computer charting: Manual charting will give way to computerization.

Parents dread school year woes!

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer, Psy.D.

Dear Dr. Singer,
School is fast approaching and we have had an ongoing problem with our child that we dread facing again. We feel that our child simply doesn't enjoy school or the process of learning.

It is like pulling teeth to get that child to work on anything and it is usually within the first few weeks that grades fall down the tubes. Can you give us any insight here on how to get this to change? S.T.

Dear S.T.,

I have a few suggestions, first of which would be to let me test the child. It's good to have a roadmap of the obstacles if they actually exist and if they don't, that knowledge is good to have as well! At least then, you can rule out any cognitive or processing issue and proceed full force without guilt or get the child the help that will make a difference!

As you may or may not know, I run a program that deals with this very thing and I've made some interesting observations. First let me say that I do believe there are real learning obstacles that get in the way for SOME kids. People who have read my columns before know that through the popular press, I believe that many kids are getting too savvy at diagnosing their own problems for the purpose of getting out of the responsibility they feel.

I think this is a very important thing to get past. I think that if you have hard data in the form of testing, you either rule out or confirm and treat, but my feeling is, we need to stop playing the middle ground between these two options.

Another thing I've noticed in the scope of my cognitive improvement program (Total Success and Pace) is what I will call a re-definition of hard work. After they have received a bad grade, I have asked a lot of kids how long they actually looked at the material prior to taking the test. The answers have stunned and amazed me.

I have heard kids tell me that they have sat down for 15 minutes and seriously expected an A and were surprised when they received an F. When I have suggested taking a small amount of extra time each night on each subject plus two hours the night before an exam, I am looked at as though I come from another planet. I have seen this look from parents as well. I don't know what changed, or when, but I do know that school work is just that...work! It's not meant to be fun. It's not meant to be entertaining, although to some it is and that's great. To the great majority of people, it is a rite of passage or a stepping stone to future privileges. It scares me that I am seeing such a large amount of people who prefer to make excuses for why a child can't, instead of helping that child to get to "I can."

We all have our own obstacles. Some of us can't see well. Some of us can't hear well. Some of us are slower learners than others, but that isn't a reason to give up the game! It's a reason to become challenged and to move beyond what we think we can. I have seen this thought instilled in kids and with the ones I've met, they always follow suit!

I remember one of the most powerful sights I ever saw was when I was working on my undergraduate degree at U of I in Champaign. I was working and had too many classes and felt overloaded and was always complaining about that. I figured I'd be lucky to get C's. One day, on my way into work, I saw a young man with an arm full of books walking down the street. So, you might ask, what is the big deal about that? Many people walk down the street on a college campus with books in their arms. This man also had a walking stick and was completely blind, yet he was at a university that demanded tremendous academic performance, both past and future. All of a sudden, my problems didn't seem so insurmountable.

Now, many kids have obstacles of their own. Maybe some have ADD and some have LD and some are behavior disordered, but it doesn't make them incompetent human beings. These problems simply need to be addressed and life gotten on with.

Be careful with your child's distaste for school. Investigate it thoroughly first but, don't fall into the failure trap. You are allowed to expect effort from your child. You are allowed to teach your child the way to find success through hard work and putting off immediate gratification. Academics are behavior-related like many other behaviors. Asking your child to like school may be stretching it, but requiring your child to meet certain standards isn't. As I said above, have the child tested first to be sure of what that roadmap looks like that we discussed earlier and then once you find out or rule out problems, either way, get it treated and help your child move on.

Getting kids to like learning can be done through challenge and success. You can find out what topics interest your child and help the child find out about those topics. Set up a contrived situation in which you help your child read about a topic and ask the child about it, complimenting correct answers. Outline for the child that this is really no different than school. The only difference is that in school the child doesn't necessarily like all the topics, but can still do well if enough time is spent or the correct help is gotten.

During school, maybe make school a contest for him or her. After the child has been tested and treated if necessary, make sure that privileges, rewards and freedom are tied into the child's effort. Effort, meaning time put in, not grades! Grades will come naturally with time put in. Share with your child your definition of the minimum amount of time that is acceptable to you. Of course, be reasonable! Twelve hours is not reasonable!

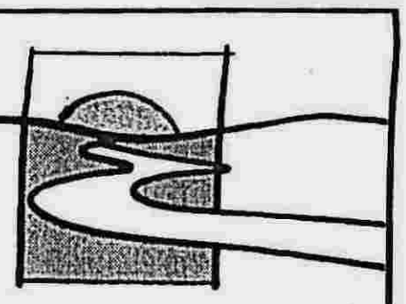

I think we really need to help our kids get back to the understanding that success is not a matter of luck or being someone else who doesn't have our problems. It's a matter of striving in the face of obstacles. It's a matter of giving it all you've got and more to get the job done because you are proud of that. I've worked with enough kids in this cognitive improvement program (Total Success and Pace) to know that many of them don't really have a concept of what hard work or finishing something completely is! Once they're taught and expectations are set, they prove to be more than capable and really feel pride when doing it.

There is plenty of room for nurture and pride with our children. You don't need to be a drill sergeant, but you do need to have faith in your child and help your child have faith in him or herself! Tell your child that you know he or she can do it! And then teach and guide! If you feel overwhelmed or need some guidance, let me know! Also, make sure to call me if your child has trouble with school. I've helped a lot of kids learn to love learning, quickly. I've also helped a lot of kids learn how to increase their learning skills intensely!

The beginning of school should be an exciting time. A time of great expectations and thrills about what new heights each child will attain. Unfortunately, those kids who have had difficulty don't see it this way. Let's help them to see it this way! I'd love to hear from you!

BRASS: Community Band bridges generation gap family. He played at state occasions, such as trooping the colors and the changing of the guard.

"I was playing also for social and official functions in Buckingham Castle," Porch said. "It was very interesting."

After nine years with the Royal Family's band, Porch wanted to travel.

"I did that for four years," he said. "I directed a nine-piece orchestra." The cruise ship cabaret shows gave him a chance to interact with the audience.

His musical credentials are extensive. "I started piano when I was 8," he said. By the time Porch was 12-years-old, he was on the trombone. He had played with a brass band in England before he auditioned for Her Majesty's Band of the Irish Guards.

Players in Lakes Area Community Band also approach their music with education enthusiasm. It is a band filled with people who want to play because they love music.

The band is open to all instrumentalists with the ability to play. The current 40-member line-up includes people who are still in school to those who are more than 70 years old. New members are encouraged to join them.

The band rehearses every Monday evening at the Antioch Community High school band room from 7 to 9:15 p.m.

"We're just starting our tenth year," band President Schmelzer said. The band was originally founded by Tom Erlenborn in June, 1989.

"We do about six or seven concerts for the whole year," he said. "We like to keep it going all year 'round to keep the volunteer effort going."

The band is supported by Festival Arts of Antioch, Inc., according to Schmelzer. Because of the help, concerts remain free. There are no band dues. Auditions are not required. There is no age limit. It is a real community band.

Festival Arts has a long history of helping events in the community, according to Kenneth Smouse. It is a group of people who produce and support artistic events. This includes financial support from a fall fund drive. Presently, Festival Arts is supporting the band as well as a community chorus.

"We want to do more (entertainment events) with the band and the choir," he said. "We just want to broaden the whole (artistic) landscape."

Festival Arts is more than a band support resource, however. It is also active with presentations on its own, such as "The Messiah."

"We will be doing 'Amahl and the Night Visitors' again," Smouse said.

In the meantime, with support from Festival Arts, Lakes Area Community Band is finishing their popular summer concerts.

"This is our final summer concert of the season for us," said Porch. He expects they will return with a holiday season concert series.

"We are an all-year-'round band," he said.

For now, however, the final notes are for the summer of 1998.

Victory Memorial announces free programs for seniors this fall

Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, has scheduled a variety of free health screenings and programs of interest to area residents age 55 and older. Advanced registration is required for participation in these programs. Because space is limited, those interested in attending are urged to call 1-800-843-2464 as soon as possible to reserve space.

A two-part program, "Managing Your Congestive Heart Failure," is designed to help people diagnosed with this disease to learn to manage their illness on a daily basis. Led by experienced registered nurses and registered dietitians from Victory Memorial Hospital, the program includes discussion of medications, sodium and fluid intake, weight monitoring, exercise and cooking tips. "Managing Your Congestive Heart Failure" will be held from 1-2 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 8 and Tuesday, Sept. 22 at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, 1055 East Grand Avenue, Lindenhurst. Attendance at both sessions is required.

Experienced hospital staff will provide "Osteoporosis Risk Evaluations," on Saturday, Sept. 12 at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 North Sheridan Road, Waukegan. Participants can choose to attend either a 9 a.m. or 10:15 a.m. session. The evaluation includes a risk factor questionnaire and a wrist/ankle measurement. In addition, there is a short educational program on exercise, diet and medications in the prevention and treatment of osteoporosis.

"Prostate Cancer Screenings" will be provided by Victory Memorial Hospital in conjunction with board certified urologists from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 15 and Thursday, Sept. 17. The screening includes a PSA blood test and a digital rectal exam. On Sept. 15, appointments will be available for the screening at The Victory Health Care Center, 100 North Atkinson Road, Grayslake. On Sept. 17, the screening will be held at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 North Sheridan Road, Waukegan. Men who have had an exam for prostate cancer at their doctor's office within the last 12 months need not participate in this screening.

Leg cramps, even tingling sensations in the hands or feet, can be a sign of peripheral arterial disease (PAD), a serious circulation problem. Victory's "Peripheral Arterial Disease Screening" helps people recognize signs of this disease. Screening appointments are available between 3 and 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 22 at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 North Sheridan Road, Waukegan.

"Healthy Traveling," a free seminar, will help people with chronic illnesses or other health concerns enjoy taking trips to places far and near. Dr. James Monahan, board certified cardiologist, will discuss general health tips for travelers such as avoiding travel sickness, what to do if they get sick away from home, packing medications, and more. In addition, a registered dietitian will advise travelers on how to make wise, healthy food choices while traveling. "Healthy Traveling" will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 23, in the Ampitheater at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 North Sheridan Road, Waukegan.

These programs and services are provided as a community services to the residents of northern Lake County. For a complete calendar of community programs or a booklet on the services offered by Victory Memorial Hospital, call 1-800-843-2464.

ADVERTISING SUPPLEMENT PREPARED BY LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS

YOUNG AT HEART

Seniors may be richer than they think

Don't trash grandma's black iron fry pan — it might be worth $500 or more.

Cast-iron cookware is one of the many valuables overlooked when folks clean house or settle an estate. A 3-inch-diameter Griswold No. 1 frying pan will put $2,000 in your pocket, and dozens of other iron muffin pans, roasters and skillets are worth between $100 and $1,000.

Seniors especially are likely to lose a great deal of money when they sort their "junk," warns Tony Hyman, host of Trash or Treasure, heard on 125 radio stations each weekend. Things don't have to be very old or expensive to have value. Hyman points out. Everyday items made between 1920 and 1985 frequently are worth money to today's collectors.

China and glassware given away free in the 1930s can put hundreds of dollars in your pocket, and more than 100 inexpensive toys from the 1960s are worth $1,000 today. The secret of turning this "junk" into cash, says Hyman, is getting it to the handful of people who want it the most and are willing to pay the most.

While millions of people collect stamps, less than a dozen compete for items in some other hobbies. There only is one good buyer of cigar boxes in the United States and Canada. A buyer willing to pay $100 an inch for lace or who will pay $2,500 each for "boulders" (a kid's 1940s multicolor marble) are equally hard to locate. But once you find the right person, it's surprising how much money you can get.

Illinois collector David Welch recently paid $1,900 for a plastic model kit of Godzilla that had been gathering dust in a relative's attic in Peoria. The kit sells new for $8.95 on eBay, which warns that nonetheless rarely know what's valuable.

Fishing tackle is a good example. Californian Rick Edmisten, author of the fishing tackle price guide, says lures come in as many as 17 colors, and can vary in price from $5 to $5,000, depending on which ones you have. Quality buyers like Welch and Edmisten probably live miles away from you, but they are easy to contact by mail, phone, fax or e-mail. On his radio talk show, Hyman has helped listeners turn everything from guitars to cookie jars into cash. The best on an find of early 1998 was 15 1960s rock 'n' roll posters found under the bed of a lucky young lady who got $15,000 from a buyer Hyman recommended in Quebec.

Hyman's easy to follow advice now is available in print. Trash or Treasure is not a price guide, but a guide for getting the best prices from the best buyers. It gives you the symptoms, names, addresses and phone numbers of 1,200 real people with cash at hand ready to evaluate and pay cash for 2,300 categories of items you may have hidden around your home.

Available exclusively by mail, Hyman's 640-page guidebook is $29.95 (plus $5 shipping and handling), from Treasure Hunt, PO Box 3028-JT, Pismo Beach, CA 93448. If you mention the name of this paper when you order, you also will receive a copy of The World's Most Accurate Price Guide and a 30-day money-back guarantee at no extra charge. Visa/MC customers can call 1-800-549-7500.

"Don't dispose of anything more than 15 years old without first getting expert advice," suggests Hyman, "as nearly every older American has something worth $50 to $1,500 that he or she thinks is trash."

Valuables include Bakelite and other costume jewelry, Hawaiian shirts, electric trains, detective books and magazines, perfume bottles, violins, fountain pens, Sears catalogs, phonograph records (one Bob Dylan album is worth $5,000!), wristwatches, windup toys, dolls, teddy bears, paperweights, canning jars, stoneware crocks, political buttons, lunch boxes, calculators from the early 1970s, transistor radios, cigarette lighters, and many other ordinary-looking things.

How important is good advice? A Massachusetts housewife sold a 15-inch-high vase at her yard sale for $100 in the spring of 1994. The person who bought it contacted Ohio-based Riley Humler, one of 28 pottery buyers Hyman recommends nationwide. In June, Humler helped the new owner sell the vase for a staggering $51,700.

Insomnia: Remedies for the sleep impaired

You're not imagining it, your ability to sleep deteriorates as you age. As you get older, you get less of the deeper, more restorative stages of sleep.

According to the Mayo Clinic Women's HealthSource, the most likely culprits are:

Hot flashes and night sweats — These symptoms are a result of menopause in women. They last only a few minutes, but they're notorious for disrupting sleep.

Getting older — It's a myth that you need less sleep as you age. However, your sleep pattern changes. You may sleep less in one stretch. You also get less of the deeper stages of sleep and more of the lighter ones. Consequently, you wake up often and are more easily aroused.

Stress — It's the top cause of short-term sleep problems. Worrying about your insomnia can make your problem even worse.

Illness — Arthritis, depression, asthma and sleep apnea (breathing cessation characterized by loud snoring and gasping) can interfere with sleep.

Medications — Steroids and some drugs used to treat high blood pressure and depression can disrupt sleep.

To reduce insomnia, try these remedies:

- Consider hormone replacement therapy if menopause symptoms disturb your sleep.
- Deal with worries in the early evening by writing them down along with possible solutions.
- Exercise regularly — about 20 to 30 minutes a day — at least five to six hours before bedtime.
- Read, watch television or listen to music when you have trouble falling asleep or when you wake up during the night. Try to stay awake until your eyes close involuntarily.
- Set your alarm clock, then put it out of sight.
- Establish a regular bedtime routine.
- Get up at the same time every day, regardless of when you fall asleep.

Magnets aid health

Looking for a way to help relieve discomfort, reduce stiffness and improve blood circulation without using medicine? One of the most exciting therapies recently introduced to the Western world from Asian medicine is magnetic therapy. Increased magnetic fields may help the human body to relieve aches and pains without using needles or drugs.

Thousands of years of magnetic therapy can no longer be ignored by Western medicine. Greek philosopher Aristotle was the first person known to speak of the therapeutic properties of magnets. Russian, Chinese, Arab, Egyptian, Indian and Hebrew healers have long used magnets for treatment.

Many doctors today are using magnets in their practices. One good indicator of the importance of magnetic energy is that both the United States and Russian space programs have recognized the potential health benefits of magnetic therapy by including magnets onboard their space shuttles for the health of their astronauts.

Today, top athletes of all ages in tennis, golf, football, baseball and other sports are wearing magnets daily.

Sandy Marinko's experience with the magnetic necklace and bracelet is typical, "Within an hour, my upper back began to loosen up, and the pain began to subside. I slept with the magnets and the pain lessened. When I took them off, I began to tighten up again and the pain began to worsen."

For years, Marinko's chiropractor was having a hard time adjusting her back, but after a week of wearing the necklace she said, "He was able to adjust my back much easier than he could before. My massage therapist also was amazed at the difference in my body."

Ceramic magnets have been carefully cut and polished to resemble expensive hematite beads and are handcrafted into attractive necklaces for both men and women. Also available is a good-looking and comfortable gold- and silver-toned magnetic bracelet which is appropriate for men and women. The necklace and bracelet come with a 30-day money-back guarantee.

Magnets should not be worn by pregnant women or people who have to wear an internal or external electronic device, such as a pacemaker, without the advice of a qualified health-care professional.

The necklace and bracelet are available by mail or phone from Winning Products, P.O. Box 7308, San Diego, CA 92167, or by calling toll free 1-888-94-MAGNET (1-888-946-2463). The price is only $49.95 each, plus $5 for shipping and handling (CA residents add 7.5% sales tax).

Book offers tips and savings for casino-going seniors

For seniors who like to make that occasional trip to try their luck at the casinos, there's a unique new book that offers tips on how to win, details on special senior deals, plus coupon savings of more than $700.

The 354-page 1998 edition of the "American Casino Guide" covers 31 states and lists money-saving information on more than 600 casinos — every casino/resort in the United States — plus all Indian and riverboat casinos. Besides listing detailed information on every casino, the book includes informative maps showing where each casino is located, as well as detailed maps of five major gaming areas: Las Vegas, Reno, Atlantic City, Biloxi and Tunica. As an added bonus for seniors, the guide also notes which casinos offer special senior discounts.

A popular feature of the guide is an extensive coupon section with more than $700 in savings at more than 50 casinos. Included are offers for free cruises, shows, bus tours, fun books, buffets, match-play money and more.

The guide is available for $14.95 at bookstores and most AAA offices, or can be ordered by calling (800) 741-1596.

Written by a former gambling industry executive with more than 25 years in the business, the guide includes stories about which casino games offer the best odds; how to play blackjack, craps, roulette and baccarat; how slots and video-poker machines work; how players are rated by casinos; and how to take advantage of casino promotions and slot clubs.

Men can take control of their lives

If you are unable to completely relieve your bladder, lack the urge to urinate, or continually wake up throughout the night, then your experience is similar to more than half of the male population over the age of 40. These symptoms make a man extremely uncomfortable and often can inhibit desired activities. The cause usually is due to an enlarged prostate gland, a condition called Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH).

There is no need to feel these symptoms any longer. There is an alternative and natural way to regain control. Countless clinical studies report plant nutrients like Saw Palmetto, African Pygeum and Soy Extracts repeatedly have offered an amazing improvement and benefit to men's health. Adding these healthy components to your daily diet has proven to be an effective preventative measure and beneficial for a prostatic problem.

For more information or a free sample of Prostate Plus, call SoyBiotics at 1-888-SOY-5144.

New gene associated with Alzheimer's disease

The Greater Chicagoland Alzheimer's Association is encouraged by newly published research that suggests there is another gene that may be associated with increased risk of Alzheimer's disease. It is especially interesting because it involved people with Alzheimer's who did not carry the known Alzheimer risk gene, APOE-e4, according to the association.

"This is an intriguing, though preliminary, study," said Kent Barnheiser, association executive director. "We need confirmation by other scientists with large groups of patients before we can determine the true impact of this research."

"This finding provides further support to the growing body of evidence that there are multiple genes that affect a person's risk of getting Alzheimer's disease, said Barnheiser. "Also, it indicates a possible gene associated with increased risk for Alzheimer's in people who do not have the APOE-e4 gene."

APOE-e4 is currently the only generally accepted genetic risk factor for Alzheimer's disease.

The study, by Robert Ferrell, Ph.D., and colleagues at the University of Pittsburgh Alzheimer's Disease Research Center, appears in the March 1998 issue of Nature Genetics. The team's clinical leader was Steven DeKosky, M.D., chair of the Alzheimer's Association's Medical and Scientific Advisory Council.

The researchers studied 357 people with Alzheimer's disease and 320 normal controls. All were tested to find which types of a gene, known as the bleomycin hydrolase gene, they had. The gene has two forms, or alleles, known as A and G. People get two copies of the gene, one from each parent.

The researchers found that people in their study who had two copies of the G allele, and did not have APOE-e4, were four times more likely to have Alzheimer's disease. "It is evident there are many factors that contribute to the cause and progression of Alzheimer's and almost certainly there are multiple genes involved. We need to track down these genes and find out how they interact with each other and with other risk factors in the environment," Barnheiser said.

The Alzheimer's Association is a strong supporter of increasing knowledge about what causes Alzheimer's, including the genetics of the disease, as a gateway to developing treatments.

Alzheimer's disease attacks the memory and impairs the ability to think, reason and judge. It is the 4th leading cause of death among U.S. adults.

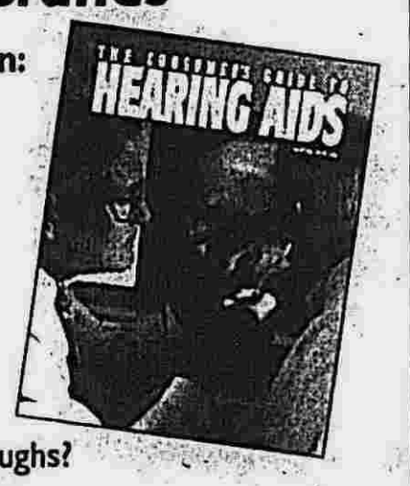

For more information about Alzheimer research and programs to help people with the disease and their caregivers, call the Greater Chicagoland Alzheimer's association at (847) 933-2413.
